

Truman Fair Deal Program Menaced By GOP-Dixie Team

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Truman's "fair deal" program was at stake today in a struggle for control of the House between administration Democrats and a coalition of Republicans and southerners.

The GOP-Dixie team struck the first blow yesterday with a move to restore to the rules committee its former power to bottle up House legislation.

While the immediate aim of the southerners is to block action on a bill to end job discrimination, they made clear that they are prepared to join with the Republicans against other major parts of the Truman program if their strategy is successful.

They were confident that it will succeed. Administration leaders were silent but obviously worried.

Directly at issue is a rule pushed through the House last year by administration leaders who felt that too much of their "must" legislation was being stalled in the rules group by Republican-Southern teamwork.

Formerly such bills could be jarred loose only by a hard-to-get petition signed by more than half the House members.

The new rule enables committee chairmen to call for a House vote on any bill which has been before the rules group for 21 days. Under that rule, the administration-backed fair employment practices bill—a key item in Mr. Truman's civil rights program—is due to be voted on in the House January 23.

But yesterday the coalition forced through the rules committee by a 9 to 2 vote a resolution which, if approved by the House, would knock out the 21-day rule and restore to the committee its former tight grip on legislation.

By resorting to technicalities, rules committee Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) can block a House vote on the proposed change until after January 23. He indicated to newsmen that he will do that.

That would enable Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich.) of the labor committee to call on the FEPC bill—if Speaker Rayburn recognizes him.

But there are eight other bills that can be called on the same day under the 21-day rule, and Rayburn—an FEPC opponent—can recognize some other chairman first.

Back Sales Tax To Be Forgiven

Liquor Dealers Save Million In Michigan

Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Attorney General Stephen J. Roth advised Governor Williams yesterday that the legislature's legal "forgiveness" more than $1,000,000 in back sales taxes owed by package liquor dealers since July 1.

Previously, Roth had said verbally on several occasions this could not be done. He was asked by Williams to seek a possible solution for the problem facing the package dealers (SDD's) who were notified in December that they should have been collecting the tax since July 1 and owed the money to the state whether they collected it or not.

However, Williams refused to say that he would ask the March 15 legislative session to cancel the overdue taxes. He said he wished to study the matter and the possibility of relief by administrative action. The legislature cannot act on the subject unless Williams gives the go-ahead.

Roth ruled that the legislature "has the power to tax and therefore has the power to exempt from the effect of a tax law."

He said he had found a way to get around objections that forgiveness of the tax would rob local units of government who get a one-third share of all sales taxes under the constitutional sales tax diversion amendment.

Roth declared the diversion is required only after the tax is collected and that since the state had not collected the tax it could not be forced to pay the money to the local units.

Baby-Sitter Held In Death Of Boy, 2, Found Smothered

Torrington, Conn., Jan. 14 (AP)—A 17-year-old baby sitter has been arrested in the death of a two-year-old boy placed in her charge. Police Chief Hugh E. Meade said the baby sitter, Florence Michalak, 18, admitted she put a pillow over the child's face "to stop him from crying."

The baby sitter was booked on a charge of assault with intent to murder and held without bail for a coroner's inquest and a city court appearance next Friday.

The baby, William Joseph King, was found dead Thursday afternoon and Florence was taken into custody that night in a movie theater in Waterbury, 15 miles from here.

Florence was hired to care for baby William while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred H. King, were at work. Their eldest son, John, 11, came home from school and found Florence absent and the baby dead on a couch.

Censorship Resumed On News From Cairo

Cairo, Jan. 14 (AP)—Cairo's newspapers have been told censorship is over but outgoing cables still must pass official scrutiny.

Censorship of the local press, authorized May 15, 1948, when Egyptian troops entered Palestine, had been suspended when the national election campaign began in December. It was reimposed Thursday.

Yesterday the interior ministry said censorship of local newspapers had again been lifted.

Coal-Hungry Nation Wonders If Miners Will Return Monday

Pittsburgh, Jan. 14 (AP)—Will the 69,000 striking soft coal miners resume their three day work week?

The coal hungry nation should get its answer Monday. Coal people are almost unanimous that the nation is short of the precious fuel despite President Truman's assertion to the contrary.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president suggested a few days ago the striking miners resume their three day work week on Monday.

A Lewis suggestion always has been tantamount to an order in the past. Will it work again?

For the first time in many years there seems to be a doubt in some minds that all the miners will heed their leader's suggestion.

Lewis, suffering a personal loss in the death of his mother, made no comment on the situation.

The rumblings of discontent came from some sections of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Many mine locals will hold meetings today and tomorrow to decide whether to follow Lewis' suggestion. Some UMW leaders say they can't predict that will happen.

Since last June 30 when the soft coal contract expired it has been impossible to predict Lewis' next move. He called several walkouts. Then he put the miners on a three-day week. All the time, the nation's coal supply dwindled.

Port Huron Boy, 15, Kills Himself With Knotted Up Neckties

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—Patrick T. Cary, 15, was pretty good at tying knots.

He found it fun. He practiced a good deal.

Yesterday Patrick's father, Keith E. Cary, found the boy hanged by his necktie from a door knob in his bedroom.

Patrick's hands were behind his back, knotted together with another necktie.

On the floor were strewn some "EB" shot.

After an investigation, police reported Patrick's death "purely accidental."

It was assumed he had tied the knots too well.

Work Continues In UN Despite Soviet Walkout

Ten Nations Ignore Russian Challenge

Lake Success, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United Nations security council plans to go ahead with normal work despite the latest Soviet walkout.

The ten remaining nations on the council intend to ignore Russia's challenge that council actions are not legal as long as Nationalist China holds its big power seat in the 11-nation security organ.

The Russians yesterday lost their fight to unseat Chinese Nationalist delegate T. F. Tsiang. Soviet representative Jakob Malik quit the council chamber in his second walkout of the week.

Russia, India and Yugoslavia—who have recognized the Chinese Communist government—voted to oust the Nationalists here.

Britain and Norway, who also have recognized the Chinese Reds, abstained. They contended expulsion would be premature until a majority of the 59 United Nations switched recognition from the Nationalists to the Communists.

Voting against the Soviet demand were the United States, France, China, Cuba, Ecuador and Egypt. Seven affirmative votes were needed to kick out the Nationalists.

Malik's action and statements were attacked by remaining members. Then, over Yugoslavia's objection, the council restored Tsiang to the chairmanship he holds for January.

The council at once began consideration of a U. N. arms request for the armaments commission to proceed with a world-wide survey of non-atomic weapons.

Action on the arms request is only a procedural matter, requiring a majority vote and not the assent of all the "big five" members. The council has been asked merely to transmit a message from the assembly to the commission.

But U. S. delegate Ernest Gross did throw a definite challenge to the Russians, the strongest pronouncement any of the big power permanent members of the council yet has made on the question of Russian walkouts and their effect.

Gross said: "The absence of the Soviet representatives will not prevent us from conducting the business to which we are pledged."

Gross called Malik's walkout "a whim, motivated by malice or a desire for propaganda."

Churchill Back In Party Fight

Tory Leader To Take It Easier This Year

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
London, Jan. 14 (AP)—Old warrior Winston Churchill is taking it easier in this year's political campaign than he did back in 1945 when his conservative party lost to the Laborites.

The former Prime Minister's plans were published today as both parties decided to take off their wraps and start electioneering at once.

Britain's National Parliamentary election is set for Feb. 23. The parties have been marking time since it was announced Wednesday for fear of over-spending the limit the laws allows them to lay out in any electoral campaign.

Before the present Parliament was elected July 5, 1945, Churchill made a 1,000-mile countrywide tour by train and automobile in his bid to return to power.

This time he'll make no such tour. On his program so far are only four big public speeches. One radio broadcast is scheduled Jan. 21.

The law says each party may spend only 450 pounds ($1,260) per candidate, plus two pence (two and one-third cents) for each rural and three half-pence for each urban voter.

Lansing Jail Called One Of Worst In State By Inspector

Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Describing it as "one of the worst jails in the state," the State Corrections department today sought a court order to shut down the Lansing city jail.

William Nestle, state jail inspector, filed a bill of complaint in Ingham county court asking for the order to close the jail. He said the action represented an isolated instance and that no campaign was planned against other city and county jails in the state.

Nestle said the closing was asked because the city had carried out only about half the changes ordered about a year ago to make the jail safe to house prisoners. Principal complaint is that the "bullpen" where most of the prisoners are kept is underground and could be a dangerous firetrap, he said.

Winter's Worst Storm Sweeps Across Nation

SUB CARRIES 65 TO DEATH—Above is a general air view of the area where the British submarine Truculent sank Thursday night after colliding with an ice-breaking motor tanker from Stockholm. The British navy, planning salvage operations, said the disaster cost 65 lives. Beyond the buoy marker (arrow) sent up from the submarine is HMS Finisterre, a destroyer with a decompression chamber on board. Beside the marker is a rescue ship.

British Navy Plans To Lift Sunken Sub, Death Trap For 65

Chatham, England, Jan. 14 (AP)—Frogmen crawled inside the broken submarine Truculent in its ocean grave today and found no signs of life.

Their report put the seal of finality on a British navy statement that there could be no hope for the 65 men who were reported missing when the undersea raider went down Thursday night in the Thames estuary.

The toll stood at 65 lost and 15 saved. Ten bodies have been picked up at sea. Some of the survivors estimated that as many as 40 of the 80 aboard were swept out through escape hatches into the icy waters. Many were swept away on the tide.

Divers and frogmen were trying to find the best way of raising the sunken submarine, holed so badly that it sank 60 seconds after its collision with the Swedish tanker Divina.

An admiralty spokesman said the salvage might take days or months. It depends on whether the hulk will hold enough air to make it buoyant, or whether it must be lifted with pontoons.

Frogmen are expert swimmers who go down in black rubber suits with rubber fins attached. They carry portable oxygen machines and lights. Yesterday they tapped the outer hull of the sub but got no response from inside. Today they groped their way into the ship, then shot to the surface to report finding only tangled wreckage.

The 1,575-ton undersea raider lay 54 feet under the Thames estuary shipping channel some 15 miles east of the naval base here.

The Truculent went down within a minute after the little Divina sliced her bow in clear weather at 6:55 p. m. (1:55 p. m. EST) Thursday. She had 80 men aboard—62 navy men and 18 dockyard workers.

The admiralty said last night, 23 hours after the accident, that "no hope can now be entertained that there will be any further survivors."

It sent telegrams to the next of kin of the 10 dead and 55 missing. Their names are expected to report finding only tangled wreckage.

West German Leaders Plan Armed Force

(By The Associated Press)
Western allied officials in Frankfurt said today that a group of former German generals have submitted plans to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for a new German army.

Reports published abroad said the generals told the leader of the west German republic that if western Germany is to rearm it must have at least one infantry division by June and an armored corps by next years.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the western alliance military program, has advocated German strength in western armies. Adenauer has said previously that if the allies wanted German troops to aid in western European defenses the Germans could serve only as units of an international command and not as a German army.

The British Commonwealth foreign ministers have decided on an economic aid program for south and southeast Asia.

At their conference in Colombo, Ceylon, just ended, the ministers decided to recommend the program of mutual aid to their home governments.

The program parallels President Truman's point four program of technical and monetary aid to underdeveloped countries. His program has not yet won congressional approval.

The idea behind both programs is to stop the advance of Communism and make for a more prosperous free-trading world.

Crash Kills 13 Men In Glider

Tragedy Ends Tests At Ft. Benning, Ga.

Ft. Benning, Ga., Jan. 14 (AP)—The unexplained crash of an Air Force glider here brought death to 13 of Uncle Sam's top-flight rough and ready fighting men.

Five of the 17 men aboard the glider survived yesterday's crash, but one of the survivors died of injuries early today. Three of the remaining four survivors are in critical condition at the Lawson Air Force base hospital.

Among the victims were 11 student paratroopers ready for their final exam—hitting the silk in one more jump. Also killed were a sergeant-instructor and the glider's pilot, Second Lt. Robert D. Henley of Columbia, Mo.

The crash—the cause of which was unknown—was the first fatal accident in the glider training school since the death of one man in 1946.

The glider, one of two released by a C-82 tow plane, was settling on the runway normally when, witnesses reported, one wing dipped sharply and struck the ground.

Other witnesses reported the glider hit the runway, bounced into the air and began to disintegrate. Debris and bodies were scattered over 700 feet of the runway.

Across the continent, storm warnings were hoisted on the Atlantic coast from Maine to North Carolina. Winds of 40 miles an hour were reported.

A cottony fog hung over New York, halting operations at the city's busy airports and hampering ship movements in the harbor. The weather bureau said the fog

Grand Ledge Starts Petitions To Oust Squabbling Judge, 70

Grand Ledge, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—Petitions were reported being circulated in this small central Michigan community of 4,000 today asking for the dismissal of Justice of the Peace Charles Young, 70-year-old center of a local row.

Young, a six foot three inch white haired rural jurist dispenses justice from the front room of his second hand furniture store. He started the excitement yesterday when he sentenced the local police chief and the publisher of a weekly newspaper to 10 days in jail and fined each $50 for contempt of court.

The police chief, 25 year old William Carter, represents one-half of the local two-man force.

"The whole squabble seems to be because Young has a personal grudge against me," Carter, a Marine veteran, said.

Carter said he understood local residents were circulating petitions asking for the removal of Young. He said the petitions would be turned over to the Eaton county prosecutor.

BODY IN FIRE RUINS
Baldwin, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—The body of George Kinchen, 89, was found in the ruins of his burned home on Bradford Trail, a mile southeast of here, Friday.

Neighbors discovered the fire soon after it was out of control. The three-room home was destroyed.

Blizzard Rides Into Midwest On Cold Wave

California Has Frost; Minnesota In Drifts

(By The Associated Press)
The winter season's worst storm dealt staggering blows over wide areas of the western and central parts of the country today.

A snow-wind storm, after striking with full force across the Pacific northwest, roared into the Rocky Mountain states. Oregon, Washington, parts of Idaho, northern California and northern Nevada reeled from the impact of the blustery weather.

Blizzard conditions were forecast for Montana and Wyoming. The storm hit western Montana last night, with string winds and blowing, drifting snow. Temperatures ranged from 20 to 25 below zero in northern Montana.

A blizzard blew into Minnesota and colder weather spread across most of the north central region.

Gale On Lakes
The storm which struck over the northern Great Lakes region was accompanied by winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour throughout the north central states and gusts of 60 to 80 mph. Heavy snowfalls were reported in Upper Michigan.

The cold weather covered the Pacific northwest, the northern Rocky Mountain states, the northern great plains and the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys.

The below zero readings extended into Washington and Oregon. The mercury dropped to 19 below at Ellensburg, in central Washington where there was 14 inches of snow on the ground.

Spokane's snowfall measured 21 inches and the mercury dropped to six below. At Pendleton, Ore., the low was -2. It was lower in Minot, N. D., -26, and -24 at Great Falls, Mont., and below zero temperatures were general throughout the storm belt.

The colder weather also was expected in the flooded areas of the Ohio River valley, sending temperatures down to around normal from yesterday's spring-like readings. Rain, which had doused the watershed for several days, had ended. More families left their homes as waters spilled over lowlands. Other river areas braced for major floods.

Seattle Stagers
The blizzard which hammered the Pacific northwest was blamed for at least five deaths, all in Washington. Highway traffic was snarled throughout the storm belt. Air travel was halted and train service curtailed.

The storm hit hard on the Washington coast. Winds reached a velocity of 60 to 70 miles an hour and at Redmond, Ore., it howled at a velocity of 78 miles an hour. Seattle's weather bureau said the storm was one of the worst in the city's history. The city was blanketed with a 10-inch snowfall. The mercury was 13 above last night.

A dozen or more fishing boats at Grays Harbor were grounded or sank. The Coast Guard guided lost vessels to port through the swirling, powdery snow over Puget Sound.

Across the continent, storm warnings were hoisted on the Atlantic coast from Maine to North Carolina. Winds of 40 miles an hour were reported.

A cottony fog hung over New York, halting operations at the city's busy airports and hampering ship movements in the harbor. The weather bureau said the fog

Twenty-two women attended and enjoyed an evening of 500 and bridge.

Mrs. Hector Barney received first prize for bridge and Mrs. Steve Tornovich won first prize for 500. The door prize was won by Mrs. Robert Erickson.

Following the evenings entertainment coffee and donuts were served by the hostesses.

State Park Camping Fee Is Considered

Lansing (AP)—Campers in all state parks will pay 50 cents a day for the privilege starting this spring if the legislature approves.

The commission Thursday voted the charge if the legislature approves.

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster recommended the move, pointing out that money for maintaining and improving the parks is getting increasingly scarce.

A second proposal to charge for parking in some of the larger state parks, however, was turned down. In addition to the camping fee, campers who connect to the park electric system would be charged the 20 cents a day which has been in effect for some years. Camping in state forests would remain free.

Controversy On Bids Settled

Factory Addition Referred To C-C

The Escanaba city council reviewed bids for the construction of a proposed addition to the Steele-Wallace building at an unofficial meeting Friday afternoon, informally agreed to rescind a formal contract award to Erling Arntzen, Escanaba contractor. The council met at noon today and took official action on the matter.

The council could not legally act at its meeting yesterday because Councilman Nevin Reynolds was out of the city and the council members were not notified of the special meeting in advance, as required by charter. If all of the council members had been present, the notice requirement could have been legally waived.

The contract award controversy will probably be resolved by referring the building problem to the Escanaba Foundation, the industrial development subsidiary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. The city has made arrangements to sell the building site to the Foundation and City Attorney Denis McGinn advised the council that the city could not legally award a contract for construction of a building on property not owned by the city.

Attorney Wheaton Strom appeared before the council on behalf of his clients, the contracting firm of Swiland and Peterson, who had submitted a bid lower than that of Erling Arntzen, who had been awarded the contract by the council in a special meeting Wednesday. Strom contended that disqualification of the Swiland bid on grounds that the bid was unaccompanied by a certified check of 5% of the bid price was unjust inasmuch as Swiland had not been notified of the requirement.

Dies In Detroit; Was U. P. Resident

Mrs. Clyde B. Trowbridge, a former resident of the Upper Peninsula, died this morning in Detroit. She was widely known in the Upper Peninsula through her residence in Hancock, Sault Ste. Marie, Iron Mountain and Ironwood.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Clark of Oakland, Calif., and two sisters and a brother. A son, Robert, was fatally injured in an automobile accident nine years ago.

Mrs. Trowbridge, the former Ruth Mothersill, was born in Holly, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. William Warmington of Escanaba left today for Detroit to attend the funeral services. Mrs. Warmington is a sister-in-law of the deceased.

Cop Hater Convicted Of Killing Policeman At Detroit Gets Life

Detroit (AP)—A young ne'er-do-well, described in court testimony as a "cop hater," was convicted of first degree murder in a policeman's shooting.

As a result, Carol Lloyd Wright, 20, must go to prison for life. A life sentence is mandatory.

A jury of nine women and three men deliberated an hour and 15 minutes in reaching the verdict.

Wright's fatherless childhood and the handicaps of a broken home. His father, a policeman, was fired from the force.

Witnesses said Wright, on parole from an armed robbery sentence, deliberately shot and killed Policeman Ravid Bergum Feb. 17, 1949. The officer had stopped him on a street.

State May Forgive $1,000,000 In Back Sales Tax On Liquor

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—The chairman of the House Liquor Control committee has proposed that the state "forgive" about $1,000,000 in back sales taxes owed by package liquor dealers and pay the sum itself.

In a letter to State Liquor Control Commissioner Harry Henderson, the chairman, Rep. Glenn B. Robinson (R-South Haven), recommended a solution to the plight of the package dealers (SDD's) caught in the belated discovery that the sales tax should have been collected on liquor sales since July 1. The discovery was not made until late December.

Robinson wrote Henderson that collection of the "retroactive" tax on the package dealers would work a great hardship and force some of them into bankruptcy.

Mrs. Brennan Dies In Chicago

Rites For Prominent Escanaban Monday

Mrs. Stephen W. Brennan, 522 South Ninth street, prominent in the civic and community life of Escanaba for a half century, died Thursday night at Presbyterian hospital in Chicago following a brief illness.

Funeral services will be held here Monday morning at 9 at St. Patrick's church, Father Martin B. Melican offering the requiem high mass and burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery. Friends of the family may call at the Boyce funeral home beginning at 10 Sunday morning.

Mrs. Brennan, who was Mary Kelleher, member of a widely known Wisconsin pioneer family, was born in Green Bay, a daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Kelleher, and received her early education in the Green Bay schools. After receiving her degree from Oshkosh State Teachers' college, she taught in the Green Bay public schools for nine years. Her marriage to Mr. Brennan, whose home was Glenmore, Wis., took place June 25, 1901, in Green Bay, and they moved to Escanaba a short time later. Mr. Brennan died July 31, 1946.

Mrs. Brennan's interests and activities in Escanaba were numerous and varied. Her executive ability, keen perception and ready wit were a combination that, without her seeking it, placed her in a leading role in any undertaking with which she was associated.

She was deeply interested in the history of the two states in which she spent her life and was a member of both the Michigan Historical society and the Wisconsin Historical society. She served as a trustee of Carnegie public library since 1923 and had been president of the library board since January, 1927. She also was a member of the American Library association. She was a charter member of the Escanaba Women's club and of the Catholic Women's club and was affiliated with Trinity Circle 362. Daughters of Isabella. She was a member of St. Patrick's parish, and of St. Patrick's Guild and also of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Library Closing
Surviving are one son, John, of South Bend, Ind., and Diamond Lake, Mich., one daughter, Bernadette, who is a member of Escanaba senior high school faculty, and four grandchildren.

Daughters of Isabella will recite the rosary at the funeral home at 4 p. m. Sunday and Father Melican will lead the recitation in the evening at 8.

The Carnegie library will be closed from 9 to 10 Monday, the hour of the services.

Conservation Chief Plans Campaign To Cut Hunting Mishaps

Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—With approval of the Conservation Commission, conservation director P. J. Hoffmaster today began to lay plans for a nation-wide conference on the growing problem of hunting accidents.

To be held at Haven Hill Lodge near Pontiac, the conference will probably be arranged for this spring.

Hoffmaster said he would invite representatives of conservation departments of other states, the National Safety Council, the National Rifle Association and sportsmen's groups.

He pointed out there has been agitation in Michigan for an examination before issuing each of the 1,000,000 Michigan licenses annually. He said he was not sure such a large undertaking would be practical and that it would work if it were.

"Anything we can do in the matter will be worthwhile," said Commission Chairman Joseph P. Rahilly of Newberry.

Doak Walker To Get Sportsmanship Award

Boston, Jan. 14 (AP)—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist three-time All-American football star, will be awarded the Sweden Nelson Trophy for outstanding sportsmanship during the 1949 season at the Gridiron Club's annual dinner today.

Two years ago Walker was voted the Maxwell Trophy and last year he was the recipient of the Heisman award for outstanding gridiron performances.

The winner of the Nelson Trophy, dedicated to the former Harvard star player and coach, was decided by a nation-wide vote of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters participated.

Walker will share tonight's limelight with Matty Bell, the S.M.U. coach. Bell's tribute to Walker was:

"After being knocked out by the Rice team, Walker visited the Rice dressing room and congratulated their team on winning the game. In four years of college football I believe this boy has been the greatest sportsman I have ever known. This was the first conference game S.M.U. had lost since November 1946. Along with the Heisman award and the Maxwell award and All-American for three years, he remained the same modest, sportsmanlike boy."

Blizzard Rides Into Midwest On Cold Wave

was caused by a mass of warm, moist air from the south. Gales off Iceland and Newfoundland slowed ocean liners and ships arrived in New York one to four days behind schedule.

Citrus Crops Menaced
More freezing weather appeared in prospect tonight in the California citrus districts. Heavy snow ranging up to six feet on the level blocked many roads in northern California. Strong winds with gusts up to 60 mph whipped the northern coast and heavy rain fell all along the coast.

Visibility was reduced to zero as winds of 55 mph whipped up four to eight inches of snow in southern Minnesota as the blizzard hit the Gopher state. Temperatures tumbled sharply. Snow fell over North Dakota and most secondary roads were blocked.

In the Midwest flood basin, the outcome of the worst threats of the season depended on immediate weather conditions. More families were evacuated in the area along the St. Francis river near Kennett, Ind., a dozen National Guardsmen were ordered to the district for flood duty and took supplies for families forced from their homes.

The Red Cross evacuated 50 families yesterday as waters spread over 18 blocks of lowlands along Pigeon creek at Evansville, Ind. The Ohio river reached 44.8 feet and is expected to crest at 45.4 feet Sunday. Flood stage is 42 feet but the expected crest is not expected to cause serious damage. The Ohio also was rising at Mt. Vernon but upstream at Cincinnati a two-foot drop in the big river's level was reported.

The crest of the Wabash river passed Vincennes, Ind., at 27.3 feet yesterday. Rains of the past few days were expected to keep it high for several days.

The car ferry City of Milwaukee which left Muskegon at 10 p. m. Friday had to buffet heavy seas to reach port at Milwaukee today. The trip took 11 hours instead of the usual six.

Plate glass windows were blown in at three stores in Muskegon. The power line to the village of Fruitport was out.

At Benton Harbor, the wind attained a velocity of 60 miles an hour. From South Haven to the Indiana state line windows were broken, trees blown down and utility lines disrupted, but no serious property damage was reported. The wind blew down two traffic signals on U.S.-12 in Benton Harbor, and turned other signals around on the poles.

The wind hit with similar force on the eastern side of the state. At Bay City, the wind whipped the water out into Saginaw Bay with such force that the city's water supply was affected temporarily. The water level in the Saginaw river and bay dropped over two feet. As a result, the pumping station on bay shore had to draw on reservoirs. The water intake is 3,800 feet out in the bay.

Gusts of 65 miles an hour blew down trees in Jackson county, blocking some roads. Television aerials were among casualties of the wind in Jackson.

At Flint the wind struck at 50 miles an hour with occasional gusts of 75 mph, but no extensive property damage was reported.

Detroit suffered considerable property loss. The wind shattered big plate glass windows in the downtown section. In other parts of the city trees were uprooted and signs blown down.

Gusts up to 75 miles per hour blew down wires and trees at

$131,205 State Funds Received

Delta Schools Get Primary Money

School districts of Delta county will receive a total of $131,205 in a distribution of primary school money by the state of Michigan, it was announced today through the office of the county treasurer.

The fund distribution to the school districts, based on state formula, will be as follows:

Baldwin school district $3,631; Bark River $19,109; Brampton $2,711; Cornell $5,323; Escanaba township $7,288; Fairbanks $3,142; Ford River $5,086; Garden $3,526; Maple Ridge $11,151; Nahma $6,564; Rapid River $4,138; Wells $14,180.

City school districts: Escanaba $28,313; Gladstone $17,029.

British Navy May Raise Submarine; All Dead Aboard

ed to be published tonight, 24 hours later.

The bodies of 35 or more men were believed still to be inside the Truculent.

Of the 15 rescued, five were on the conning tower when the blow came. The other 10 were within and bobbed to the surface through an escape hatch from the unhooded after third of the vessel.

One of the survivors said he believed up to 40 men had hurried aft before bulkhead doors were shut to close off the forward end. The bodies of 10 men have been recovered.

Some of the other 55 men were presumed to have gone through the escape hatch and been lost in the dark waters. The rest were inside the submarine.

Looking like men from Mars, globe-helmeted divers and rubber-suited "frog men" swimmers worked until dusk last night seeking signs of life aboard the Truculent.

Divers tapped her hull with their iron boots. They exploded hand grenades in the water. They got no reply. Their effort to fix an air line into the hull failed.

Over night the wreck-lifting vessel Mosor Fowl stood guard above the sunken submersible. Freighters bound for the port of London, some 50 miles west, passed with flags at half mast.

Top U. S. Jumpers Oppose Norwegians In Norge Ski Meet

Chicago, Jan. 14 (AP)—American champion Art Devlin of Lake Placid, N. Y., carries the U. S. hopes against a strong Norwegian team tomorrow in the 44th annual Norge Ski Club jumping meet at suburban Fox River Grove.

Devlin, holder of the Norge hill record of 203 feet set when he won the 1947 meet, will compete against an old foe, Norway's Petter Hugsted. Although out-jumped by Devlin, Hugsted nosed out the American for the Norge crown last year by 1.7 form points.

Other leading Americans include Gordon Wren and Keith Wageman, both of Steamboat Springs, Colo.; Art Togle of New York; Crosby Perry-Mith, Denver; Merrill Barber, Breckinridge, Vt.; Ralph Biella, Wilbur Rasmussen, George Pera and Joe Perrault, of Ishpeming, Mich. Perrault last February set a North American record leap of 297 feet at Iron Mountain.

Premier Forms New Italian Government

Rome, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Luigi Einaudi today asked Premier Alcide De Gasperi to form a new Italian government.

De Gasperi was not expected to submit his choice for the new cabinet until next Wednesday or Thursday. De Gasperi's last coalition regime resigned Thursday to effect a government reorganization promised last October.

Since his Christian Democrats control parliament, De Gasperi's reappointment was a matter of course.

He will begin talks with political leaders later today on the makeup of the new government.

Doctor And Druggist Held In Detroit For Peddling Narcotics

Detroit, Jan. 14 (AP)—A federal trial is in store for a Detroit doctor and a druggist accused of supplying narcotics addicts with 23,000 morphine tablets.

Dr. Edward L. Brandt, 65, and John A. Langton, 44-year-old drug store operator, were arraigned yesterday before Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle. They stood mute and were freed on bonds of $1,000 each.

Joseph Bell, chief federal narcotics agent in Detroit, told the court that for the last eight months narcotics addicts have called Dr. Brandt, and he has sent them to Langton's drug store for the tablets.

Saginaw, but property damage was not heavy. The windstorm there was preceded by a heavy rainfall, totaling nine-tenths of an inch in 24 hours.

Escanaba Delegation Going To CBA Hearing In Marquette Monday

Escanaba will be represented by a large delegation at the Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in the Marquette city hall, beginning at 10 Monday morning, when petitions by both Nationwide Airlines, Inc., and Wisconsin Central Airlines, Inc., to provide service between Michigan's two peninsulas will be presented.

It is expected that both Francis M. Higgins, president of Wisconsin Central and John V. Weesner, president of Nationwide, and representatives of other and larger air transportation systems will be in attendance.

The Escanaba delegation is expected to include Denis McGinn, Hugh Grow, F. W. Schmitt, Fred Sensiba, Gust Asp, James G. Ward Jr., and other members of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

Nationwide has asked certification to serve Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids in the Lower Peninsula, Green Bay, Wis., and Menominee-Marquette, Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Marquette and Houghton-Hancock in the Upper Peninsula.

Wisconsin Central also is applying for certification over that route. Both airlines new serve the central and western portions of the Upper Peninsula, but Nationwide is operating on an intra-state permit from the Michigan department of aeronautics and WCA does not fly to Lower Michigan cities.

Higgins was in Marquette this week making arrangements for the hearing, while Weesner was in the peninsula for the same purpose last week.

Delegates from Milwaukee, Green Bay, Menominee, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Houghton-Hancock, Marquette and other cities will be present, many with their attorneys. The U. P. air transportation committee also will present information it has gathered during the last year to the CAB.

Delegates are expected from several larger airlines because of their connections with Wisconsin Central and Nationwide.

Benson Mills Dies Friday At Munising
Munising, Mich.—Benson Mills, 63, of Trenary died at 3:50 p. m. Friday at Brazier hospital. He had been in ill health several years.

Benson Mills was born in Ossian, Ind., in 1887 and lived in Trenary the past 50 years. He had been an employee of the Alger county road commission.

He leaves his wife, Letitia, two sons, Warren of Trenary and Donald of Rapid River; a daughter, Mrs. Velma Williamson of Rapid River; two sisters, Mrs. Saide Kaiser of Rapid River and Mrs. Lola Trenary of Cornell, and 16 grandchildren.

The body was removed to Beau-lieu Funeral home. Arrangements have not been completed.

Plunge Proves Fatal To Multimillionaire Los Angeles Resident
Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (AP)—A nine-story plunge from a Wilshire boulevard building took the life of Thomas Stewart Lee, multimillionaire head of a California radio, automobile and television empire.

The 43-year-old Lee, mentally harassed, dropped from a 12th-floor fire escape to the third floor roof of the Wilshire theater building.

He was nominal head of the Thomas S. Lee enterprises, including the Don Lee broadcasting system, founded by his father, the late Don Lee, the automobile distributing agency bearing his father's name, and television station KTLA, which the younger Lee himself pioneered and built.

An only son and a bachelor, Lee was the heir of a $9,430,213 estate. But he was declared mentally incompetent in 1943 and guardians were appointed for the estate. Physicians said his condition apparently stemmed from a spinal injury suffered as a youth in an auto accident.

He was employed with the Chicago and North Western Railway company.

Cavein Traps Miners At Mahanoy City, Pa.; 100 Join In Rescue
Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 14 (AP)—Two miners are trapped 100 feet beneath the earth's surface today and more than 100 rescue workers are digging into the side of Broad Mountain in an effort to reach them.

The rescue workers were spurred on by tapings believed made by the trapped men, Joseph Burda, 30, and his brother, Edward, 25. The cavein occurred yesterday at the old Boston Colliery on Broad Mountain.

Another brother, Frank, 19, was caught up to his knees by the falling debris but managed to save himself by literally jumping out of his boots. He reported the first onrush of debris almost trapped his legs. But he was able to squirm out of his boots and make his way to the surface.

Rescue workers said the tapings of the trapped brothers indicated they may have been able to get into gangways leading from the affected slope.

It was hoped that oxygen supplies in these gangways would last until the rescuers were able to reach the brothers. Pessimistic diggers said it might take two or three days to reach the trapped men.

Ministers Of British Commonwealth Agree On Foreign Policies
Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 14 (AP)—The British Commonwealth's foreign ministers ended their conference today and announced their nations still agree on their approach to most foreign problems.

A communique issued after the final conference session said the discussions demonstrated that "among all members of the Commonwealth there is a continuing and substantial community of outlook in their approach to current problems of foreign affairs."

The conference agreed also, the communique said, that "there need be no inconsistency" between Britain's policy toward western Europe and the "maintenance of traditional links between the United Kingdom and the rest of the Commonwealth."

Communists Take Peiping Consular Property Of U. S.

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The state department announced today that the Chinese Communists are seizing U. S. government consular property at Peiping.

It said the United States is recalling "all American official personnel from Communist China."

Chinese Communist police and civilian officials, the announcement said, "invaded that American consular compound" against angry American protests at 9:50 a. m. Jan. 14 China time (8:50 p. m. Jan. 13 EST).

There are 36 American official personnel in Peiping, including Consul General O. Edmund Clubb. Communications with this group have not been interrupted so far. The 36 had not been arrested at the time the announcement was made.

There are 135 American officials and dependents throughout Communist China—at Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai, Tsiangtao and Nanking.

Tax Delinquent List At 598 In Delta; Up Slightly Above 1948

The number of property descriptions in Delta county on which 1947 taxes have not been paid totals 598, and this list has been certified to the state for advertising as delinquent and will be offered for sale in May, it was announced today by the office of the county treasurer.

On Oct. 1, deadline on payment, the total number of descriptions delinquent was 1,019. The county treasurer's office mailed statements to the owners of the properties reminding them of the delinquency and in response taxes were paid on all but 598.

Payment of 1947 taxes plus penalties, may still be made at the office of the county treasurer to May 1, and the descriptions will be withdrawn from sale, although they will be advertised.

In 1948 there were 578 delinquent properties advertised for sale, an increase from 449 in 1948.

Higgins' Attack On U. P. Airports Unfair

PRESIDENT HIGGINS of Wisconsin Central Airlines apparently has never read Dale Carnegie's book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People." Practically on the eve of the CAB hearing in Marquette on the proposed improvements of commercial air service for the Upper Peninsula, Higgins filed with the Civil Aeronautics board an attack on the quality of Upper Peninsula airports. He called the U. P. airports "primitive" and indicated that no other airline had ever instituted commercial air service in a territory under more adverse conditions.

The attack by Higgins on the U. P. airports certainly is resented by the Northern Michigan cities. The communities have dug deeply into their financial resources to make improvements in the airports. All of them have completed or are now nearing the completion of extensive work projects designed to make them suitable for commercial air service. They are not the plush airstrips of metropolitan areas nor are they as modern and well-equipped as the aviation committees of the Upper Peninsula cities would like to have and expect to get some day.

However, when Wisconsin Central Airlines made its application for a franchise to serve the Upper Peninsula, the airline was fully familiar with the air fields of the area and the communities' program of developments in the peninsula in the period that has elapsed since Wisconsin Central applied for and received its franchise has been tremendous and even Wisconsin Central officials must concede that point.

Nationwide Airlines, which is competing with Wisconsin Central for franchised air service between the two peninsulas of Michigan, has not seen fit to castigate the Upper Peninsula communities for their airport improvement programs. On the contrary, Nationwide Airlines has served the area well for more than two years without federal assistance of any kind. They have operated a reliable and successful air transport service that has been tremendously helpful in bringing the peoples of the two peninsulas of the state closer together.

The unfair attack on U. P. airports by President Higgins of Wisconsin Central Airlines helps to explain why the cities of the peninsula are united in support of Nationwide Airlines' franchise petition in preference to Wisconsin Central.

Courts May Decide Rights Of Workers

THE question of whether an employer has the right to discharge a worker for failure to sign a non-Communist affidavit will be submitted to the national labor relations board and perhaps ultimately to the courts. The case has developed as a result of the dismissal by Stewart Warner corporation of Chicago of five employees, all union stewards, for refusal to sign affidavits prepared by the company.

The United Electrical Workers union, expelled recently from the CIO for Communist leanings, has indicated that it will file unfair labor practice charges against the company with the national labor relations board. Whether the labor board will accept the case depends upon several factors, including whether or not the officials of the international union have fulfilled non-Communist affidavit requirements of the labor board. If the labor board does refuse to investigate the charges, it is probable that the case will be taken to the federal courts.

Although the Taft-Hartley act requires union officials to file non-Communist affidavits with the national labor relations board to qualify that union for the protection of the board, there is no specific authority for private employers to establish such requirements for their own workers. The law does prohibit employers from firing workers for union activity, a fact that complicates the Stewart-Warner cases because all of the discharged workers were officers of the union.

Pedestrian Is Target For Wild Motorists

A convertible skidded to a stop at a red light the other day in San Antonio, Tex. It halted smack in the pedestrian cross walk.

A man in work clothes, starting across the street, angrily demanded that the woman driver back up. There was room for her to do that, but her only response was: "Mind your own business."

Whereupon the infuriated pedestrian stepped onto the convertible's running board, next to its fender, then to the hood, and so down the other side. His heavy-soled shoes ground big dents into the hood and fenders. As the woman stared open-mouthed, he strolled nonchalantly off.

We don't like to condone wilful property damage, but we confess to a grudging admiration for this pedestrian's defiant assertion of his rights. In many of our cities today, the man on foot is a forlorn orphan. Too often he seems sadly neglected even in those communities whose traffic laws are designed to favor him.

Big towns like New York and Chicago are particularly thoughtless of him. Stepping off a curb in their downtown areas means plunging into a man-trap of lumbering trucks and whizzing cars, buses and taxis. Obviously, the pedestrian's presence on the street is hotly resented.

Even having the "advantage of the red light" is of little real help in crossing a street. Cars making right or left-hand turns off intersecting streets come lurching around the corner, seemingly drawn by a magnet to the nearest knot of people-on-foot.

You can almost hear the triumphant motorist, having dispersed a group at one corner, muttering to himself: "Okay, set 'em up at the next intersection!"

There's more than just safety at stake. As anyone knows who has ever sprinted for the curb like a scared rabbit, the harassed pedestrian feels a little short on human dignity at that moment.

Until our cities begin putting stiff limits on this wildly irresponsible game of pedestrian chasing, they can hardly claim to be the guardians either of safety or elemental human dignity.

Hospitals Should Be Fireproof

THE tragic death of 41 women in a hospital fire at Davenport, Ia., recalls a similar disaster in April, 1949, when 69 persons perished in the burning of an ancient hospital at Eppingham, Ill.

The Davenport fire chief blamed the rapid spread of the flames on "lack of a sprinkler system" which he had recommended be installed two years ago. Only part of the hospital had been fireproofed in extensive remodeling last summer.

The helplessness of many hospital patients makes it obvious that fire protection is an especially acute problem in all hospitals, old and new. These two tragedies within less than a year should alert every institution in the country to the prime need for adequate safeguards.

Sprinkler systems ought to be installed universally, and particularly in rickety old structures whose flimsy materials and poor design are an open invitation to a devastating blaze. A modern fireproofed building with closed stairwells and elevator shafts may be able to confine a fire to a limited area. Anything short of such construction is a death trap.

INTERSTATE TRUCKS

(Christian Science Monitor)
Freight-carrying motortrucks have become as definitely a part of interstate commerce in the United States as are railroads or airlines. Yet they are licensed and largely regulated by the states in which they are based or through which they pass.

This makes for a great deal of disparity in registration costs, load limits, and so forth. It also has given rise occasionally to disputes between certain states over reciprocal rights for their respective truck operators.

Consequently, there appears to be merit in a proposal by Representative Victor Wickersham (D) to Oklahoma that a federal license be provided for interstate truck operators in lieu of license tags from each state in which they operate.

The plan is no simple remedy, for states cannot readily give up the revenue from this source, nor should they lose reasonable control over the weights and lengths of vehicles using the highways they build and maintain.

Mr. Wickersham proposes reapportionment of the fee money to the states concerned. It may not be easy to calculate mileages for this reapportionment purpose, and the federal government should not be allowed to attach strings to the money in the process, but the general proposition sounds interesting and worthy of study.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS TO WIND UP THE WEEK

Silver City: Why is it that American Indians are frequently given the name "Lo"?—W. B. M.

Answer: It is a humorous usage suggested by a passage in Alexander Pope's Essay on Man:

Lo, the poor Indian! whose untutored mind Sees God in clouds, or hears Him in the wind.

Altoona: My dictionary pronounces the word licorice as "LICK-oh-riss." I think I'll go on saying LICK-rish. Will you cut me on the street, Mr. C.?—Mrs. H.

A. Certainly not! In your forthcoming dictionary, LICK-rish will be listed as the Standard American pronunciation. Let's leave "LICK-oh-riss" in the elderly dictionaries with all the other out-moded, non-sensical pronunciations.

Pittsburgh: In grade school I learned to pronounce protein as PROE-teen. But now in high school I am told to say PROE-tee-in. Any comment?—R. R.

A. Either is correct. PROE-teen appears to prevail nowadays.

Peoria: When my small daughter threatens to "tell on" her brother, is she using slang?—Mrs. F. P.

A. No. The expression is centuries old. I Sam, 27, 11: "And David saved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath," saying: Lest they should tell on us. . .

Truman Will Oppose Taft?

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Taft vs. Truman! The smart insiders in the Democratic party are more and more convinced that that is the lineup for 1952. What has just happened in Columbus, Ohio—or, rather, didn't happen—confirms that view.

Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., of the Democratic national committee went out to Ohio to meet with Democrats, Laborites and farmer representatives. According to advance rumors his mission was to persuade all elements to agree on a candidate who could defeat Senator Robert A. Taft in the election this fall.

The leaders of organized labor, who have made Taft their No. 1 target, were hopeful that the agreed-upon candidate would be Murray Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation since 1920 and the leading promoter of co-operative enterprise in this country. For many months pressure has been applied to Lincoln, who was at one time a registered Republican and who has never run for public office, by labor and farm groups to persuade him to run.

LINCOLN RELUCTANT
But Lincoln has been reluctant. He indicated from time to time that he would run only if all elements in the Democratic party, both state and national, would agree on his candidacy. In other words, he declined to wage a fight in the primary.

At the Columbus session a question arose that has been the subject of speculation here in Washington. The report has persisted that Boyle and the men around the president decided they would rather not see Taft defeated so that he would in all likelihood be the Republican nominee for president in '52. Truman, renominated, would then as they see it, have an easy victory.

This was put squarely up to Boyle at a press conference. Naturally he denied it. And there were inspired interpretations of the Columbus meeting to the effect that this was a resolute determination to keep hands off local contests.

The last is slightly laughable, since in other local contests the national committee has certainly not hesitated to take a decisive role. The complicated situation in New York state was firmly resolved last year with insistence on Herbert Lehman as the candidate for the senate. Lehman defeated John Foster Dulles, who had been appointed by Governor Dewey.

In the aftermath of the Ohio meeting Lincoln, himself, and many of his most ardent proponents have the distinct impression that President Truman's political advisers would be well satisfied to see Taft re-elected to the senate and thereby so strengthened in his push for the presidency that only a Republican rebellion on a scale barely seen could sidetrack him. No matter what Democratic-Fair Deal desires and wishes may be, Senator Taft's re-election seems as of this writing assured. The Democratic nomination will in all probability go more or less by default to a loyal, regular Democrat, such as State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who will scarcely be a match for Taft.

MAY BE TOO RADICAL
It may be that Lincoln is too forthright and too radical for the Democratic committee. Speaking before the Maryland Farm Bureau convention this week, he boldly tackled the problem of falling farm prices at the point of greatest political sensitivity. This is with respect to the share of the family's food dollar that goes to the farmer and the share that goes to the large-scale processor.

Lincoln called for an investigation by the federal trade commission into what he said were "drastically wrong" differences in this division.

He went on to advocate that large processors of milk, such as Borden's and the National Dairy company, be acquired by co-operatives with the aid of government loans and then operated on the co-op principle. Lincoln suggested parallels in co-operative endeavor to indicate that this could mean important price reductions.

"We are now in a period," he said, "when science and mechanization in agriculture and science and mass production in industry have combined to make abundance for all possible. This, rather than the isms, is the real revolutionary force at work in the world today."

That is strong stuff. While it might please the Laborites, it would be likely to send nervous tremors through Ohio's regular Democrats. The challenger to take on Taft will be expected to talk in far more orthodox political terms.

Waterford: Doesn't the expression "back and forth" place the cart before the horse?—P. A.

A. Yes, for one cannot come back without first going forth. But the expression is a well established idiom. In "to and fro" the right order occurs: One goes to (a place) before coming fro (from a place).

Newark: All the dictionaries I've ever seen pronounce bona fide as BOE-uh FY-dee. But I hear it as BON-uh fyde—fyde to rhyme with Hyde. And I've always said BON-uh fyde. Am I wicked?—Mrs. D. W.

A. Despite the dictionaries, the customary American pronunciation is BON-uh fyde. There is no sensible reason why it should not be recognized as a proper alternative. Some day, in their own sweet and pedantic time, the dictionaries will find out that BON-uh fyde is the prevailing pronunciation in all levels of American speech.

Gosh! Didja Ever See Business So Bad?

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

MARK TRAIL—A chap named Ed Dodd, creator of the popular Mark Trail cartoon strip, will make his bow to Escanaba Daily Press readers starting Monday.

Dodd's drawing is good and his illustrated adventures of Mark Trail make for sustained story interest.

Mark Trail is a man's man and an outdoor type who knows the woods and waters. He is surrounded by other characters, including a girl, a boy, and a dog.

All of the action is in an out-of-doors setting, with wild animals and birds important to the story and naturally and faithfully presented.

Comic strips have an appeal for young and old. Mark Trail should prove instructive as well as entertaining, for many of the incidents depict good conservation practices and teach understanding of man's dependence upon natural resources.

AND ED DODD—Perhaps you may be unable, at this point, to distinguish between Ed Dodd, the artist, and Mark Trail, the comic strip character he created.

That would not be unusual, for in many ways Dodd and Trail are similar. For Dodd loves the outdoors and spends as much time as possible camping, fishing, and hunting. He is 46 years old, a widower, and lives near Atlanta, Ga., with his studio in a downtown office building. Much of his work, however, is done on a wide porch at his home, where in drawing he can look out across a garden landscape.

HIS BACKGROUND—Dodd had a leaning toward drawing when he was still in his teens—but he wore out thousands of pencils on millions of sketches before he launched the successful Mark Trail strip.

His first studies were in the field of architecture, a field that had little appeal compared to the outdoors field, and hill and lake. His interest in animal drawing dates back to his association with the late Daniel Carter Beard, animal painter and founder of the Boy Scouts of America, with whom he studied drawing of animals and with whom he was for 12 years associated as instructor in camping and woodcraft at Dan Beard's camp for boys in Pennsylvania. For an additional two years, Dodd served as director of Bert Adams camp in Atlanta, Ga.; and for three years he was special instructor in camping, woodcraft and nature study at New York Military Academy, Cornwall, N. Y.

JUST FOR FUN—Teaching camping and woodcraft, Dodd discovered, did not satisfy his craving for a close look at nature and the outdoors.

So for three years he guided horseback pack trains through Yellowstone National Park, then ran his own dude ranch in Wyoming. He worked with the rangers one summer in Glacier National Park and another summer went bicycle touring and camping in Norway, with a side stop for some time in a whaling village.

He traveled through Europe, has lived in many states in America, and sketched animals, places, customs and people wherever he went.

At a moment's notice he can haul out of the files sketches and

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—State Senator James D. Dotsch of Garden will discuss the commercial fishing situation at a meeting of the Wolverine Conservation association Tuesday.

Gladstone—Reappointment of B. R. Micks as Gladstone postmaster was recommended to the post-office department recently by Senator Prentiss M. Brown.

Gladstone—Dr. A. H. Miller has left for Detroit to attend a meeting of the Michigan State Medical Council.

Escanaba—Sister Mary Conrad has returned to Oak Park, Ill., and Sister Mercedes has returned to Concordia, Kan., after visiting here with their mother, Mrs. Mary Moreau.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Atty. Horace T. Atkins a former resident of Escanaba, has been accepted in the firm of Single and Single, nationally famous maritime lawyers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atkins of Pasadena, Calif. Attorney Atkins is a graduate of Escanaba high school and the law school of the University of Michigan.

Escanaba—Charles C. Olson, 1316 South 11th avenue, and his sons Robert and Harold are possessors of an unusual trophy. Yesterday, while out near Portage Point on Bay de Noc, they spotted a large timber wolf on the ice. They chased the animal with their truck and ran over it twice.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gilligan have left for Milwaukee to attend an automobile show.

We believe that the principle of equal pay for equal performance should be applied and that wider job opportunities for Negro workers should be sought.—Rep. Brooks Hays (D) Arkansas.

Good salesmanship has contributed immeasurably to America's pre-eminence.—Gov. W. Kerr Scott North Carolina.

other material to keep Mark Trail's trail authentic.

WORKS AT IT—Mark Trail was launched on his career in 1944 and met with almost immediate success. Here was something new and fresh in cartooning. Readers liked the characters—and they enjoyed the outdoor settings and the inclusion of wild creatures as important factors in the story.

None of this came easily to Dodd, although it was the result of a natural development of his principal interests—drawing and the outdoors.

Yet he took story-writing courses, and a special course in comic strip technique.

Before he begins to work on a strip he writes or "roughs out" on his drawing board the synopsis of the story. He knows what he wants to present; the story is there in his head—but sometimes he is far from satisfied with the result. He once threw away six weeks of completed strips because the story bogged down. Starting all over again, Dodd made it over into one of his best.

ASKING FOR HELP—As a comic strip stunt, Dodd asked his readers to suggest a name for Andy's pup. One hundred thousand letters poured in. Dodd had always boasted that he replied to every letter from readers—but the "name the pup" deluge was too much to handle.

Other mail received by Dodd includes requests for recipes for sour-dough bread, and how to get rid of flying squirrels in the attic.

Reburial Expenses

Dear Editor:

After I read Mr. Gerald J. Cleary's communication in your Press Jan. 11, 1950, I decided a reply is required and an explanation and clarification.

Why am I singled out of Board of Supervisors a membership of 27 to write about and try to belittle and abuse? Is it because I don't keep step with the politicians and don't dance to their music?

It is true that the claim and account committee, of which I am a member, had approved all these claims and that is because we were misinformed, both by Mr. Gerald J. Cleary and the legal adviser that the county had no choice in the matter and that it was the county's obligation to contribute $75 to help defray reburial expenses. Many such claims have been collected, but later we learned, not from Mr. Gerald J. Cleary or the legal adviser, that the Federal Government pays the entire reburial expenses. We learned from out of town funeral directors that they do not receive any of the $75 allowed by the county because the total expenses are paid by the Federal Government.

Why was that money not returned to the county and the claim and account committee so informed?

It is also true that the county shall allow the sum of $75 for burial of any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine providing the deceased did not leave an estate of $3,000 or more. Mr. Gerald J. Cleary presented a claim for a war veteran No. 1, single man, worth much more than $3,000 for approval by the claim and account committee. Committee was skeptical and I asked personally, if no matter how well off and how much estate he left if the county was obligated to pay towards burial the sum of $75. We were again informed by Mr. Cleary and the legal adviser that the county had to pay. The claim and account committee decided to hold up this claim until the next meeting and in the meantime go out and get some information and advice elsewhere. We did not get the information, not from Mr. Gerald Cleary or the legal adviser, what the law was and when going over the bill and accounts we asked what happened to that certain burial claim that was presented at the previous meeting and we were advised that it had been withdrawn. Mr. Gerald J. Cleary, and the legal adviser furnished us with the information we already had.

All that the claim and account committee wants to know is where and how all of these $75 allowances had been spent that was not used for reburial.

Action was taken by the entire Board of Supervisors and carried unanimously to investigate and find where the money is gone and how and for what it had been spent. Why doesn't Mr. Gerald J. Cleary go before the entire claim and account committee and also before the entire Board of Supervisors and state his grievance and criticize them as he has done to me. Certainly you will not get much action by writing me up in the Press and when I am only one member of the Board of Supervisors of twenty seven. Certainly no fair-minded citizen and taxpayer would object to have an investigation to find out where his tax money is gone and how spent.

Yours truly,
Peter N. Logan

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON MERRY GO
(Editor's Note—This is the second of Drew Pearson's columns on gambling racketeers and how they affect our various branches of government.)

BY DREW PEARSON
Washington. — In 1932 when Franklin Roosevelt advocated the repeal of prohibition, one big argument was that liquor racketeers had become a law unto themselves, a group above the government. That argument was valid. But now the old liquor racketeers have moved into the gambling racket where they still remain a law unto themselves.

Last year a rash of stories on Frankie Costello were published by Time, Newsweek and Edward G. Ladd of the Washington Post, a great newspaperman. These stories told how Costello lunched in style at the Waldorf, wore custom-made clothes, owned an office building on Wall Street.

Unwittingly, these articles tended to point such a glorified picture of America's No. 1 gambler that an impressionable youngster might have been persuaded that this was the life for him.

It was even pointed out that Costello still lived with the same wife; completely ignoring the files of the New York police department which are filled with recordings of obscene telephone conversations between Costello and a score of mistresses.

The tragic fact is that Costello and the gang leaders he represents have succeeded to an amazing degree not only in making crime pay but in making it respectable. That is not a lesson that we want taught our youth.

Furthermore, when any one group in our society sets itself up as more powerful than another, democracy breaks down.

COSTELLO COULD BE DEPORTED
Hitherto Costello's chief influence has been in the big cities—New York, Miami and Los Angeles. But now he appears to be able to reach inside the federal government.

The amazing fact is that Costello could be deported from the United States and sent back to Italy tomorrow if the justice department wanted to. For, when Costello swore out his American citizenship papers in 1925, he perjured himself regarding his criminal record. Countless other immigrants have been deported for doing exactly the same thing, but they have lacked something which Costello has—influence.

At this very moment, another immigrant, Harry Bridges, is on trial in San Francisco on exactly the same charge—perjury in connection with his citizenship papers.

This column holds no brief for Bridges. But everyone should be treated equally. And it's an ironic fact that "Jiggs" Donohue, a private attorney who has had contacts with the Maragon-Costello crowd is now retained by the justice department to prosecute Bridges.

COSTELLO'S PARTNERS
President Truman, I am convinced, knows nothing about Costello influence inside the government and would not stand for it if he did. Nevertheless, Costello appears to have a powerful friend inside the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and this column has previously published the details on the fixing of a federal tax-fraud case involving Los Angeles gamblers.

Last summer, Sen. Clyde Hoey's investigating committee also stumbled onto the fact that ex-White House friend John Maragon, now under indictment, had been employed by Costello's partner "Dandy Phil" Kastel, and that Bill Helis, the "Golden Greek," another partner of Costello's, had been a contributor to the Truman campaign.

Maragon was found to have a secret banking account in El Paso, Texas, which over a period of time contained as much as $135,000—a lot of money for a man who complained that his salary averaged around $4,000 annually. Furthermore, most of Maragon's transactions were in cash—the coin of the underworld.

Maragon and General Vaughan also had enough power inside the Truman administration to overrule a housing order against the remodeling of California's Tanforan race track after being introduced to the track's owners by Costello's partner, Helis.

Though Costello probably makes most of his money in gambling, one source of revenue is his partnership with "Dandy Phil" Kastel, Bill Helis and Irving Haim, as sales agents for House of Lords and King's Ransom whiskies. When Republican senators stumbled into this connection last summer, Helis immediately issued a vigorous denial. He said that at no time had he ever been associated with Costello in connection with the Whitley company, owners of House of Lords and King's Ransom.

THE OFFICIAL RECORD
However, here is part of the official, though confidential record regarding the partnership of White House friend Bill Helis, Frankie Costello, and "Dandy Phil" Kastel.

Nov. 8, 1937—A note for $225,000 to Irving Haim at the Whitney National Bank in New Orleans was endorsed by Phil Kastel, William Helis and Frank Costello.

In 1938—Kastel owed O. C. Jennings of Chicago $45,000 for slot machines. So a note for the debt was signed by Kastel and Robert Friedberg with Alliance Distributors stock certificates put up as collateral. Alliance Distributors is the name under which Costello, Kastel and Helis operate. To meet the note Alliance Distributors arranged to sell 2,000 cases of whisky and turn the proceeds over to O. C. Jennings.

Aug. 23, 1938—Bill Helis paid Irving Haim's note for $225,000 at the Whitney National Bank with his personal check for that amount.

Sept. 15, 1938—An agreement was executed between Irving Haim and William Helis giving Helis an interest in J. G. Turney and Sons, Ltd., the holding company for King's Ransom and House of Lords whiskies.

Williams Plugs For Corporation 'Profits' Levy

By JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, (AP)—You can paste it in your book that Governor Williams will ask the March 15 special session of the legislature to enact a state corporation "profits" tax.

This is based on what he says and doesn't say and on his actions. The best indicator pointing to renewal of the tax fight is the fact that Williams already has publicly endorsed new institutional construction plans which would cost nearly $23,000,000.

Since he and his aides have argued consistently that the state is nearing the red ink mark, it is obvious that the governor cannot expect to spend about $23,000,000 without more revenue.

Williams previously said he would support construction grants to the state's three major universities totalling $8,500,000.

Friday he plumped for $14,000,000 in building money for the mental hospitals.

Speech Is Clincher

Newsman, noting that he has not said he would reopen the corporation profits tax question next session, asked him if the total of these building requests were not a strong hint that he intended to do so.

"I haven't said I would," Williams replied, "but I guess that's a good inference."

If anyone was in any doubt, Williams' Thursday night speech to the Michigan Agricultural conference should prove the clincher.

He sought cleverly to overcome the Republican gospel that he stands for more taxes and the G. O. P. for no new taxes.

The Republicans, Williams said, are talking no new taxes, but at the same time some of them are attempting to pass the Higgins bill to impose a tax on the sale of used cars.

Calling this plan an "atrocity" which he would not permit the legislature to consider, Williams argues it would be a new tax because it taxes sales which now are not taxed—single car sales between individuals.

The sponsor, Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) argues it is not a new tax because it is in a field already taxed. By that he means, that the sales tax—which his tax would replace—is collected from used car sales by dealers.

This is how politicians quibble over terms.

The indications are not clear yet just how much of a corporation tax Williams will seek.

In the 1949 session he asked for a four per cent tax to raise $60,000,000. He was defeated.

The feeling grew in some circles since that if Williams returned to the same fight he might ask for less—say, two per cent.

Squeeze On GOP
But as the proposed institutional construction program swells it becomes less and less likely that the governor can ask for much less than four per cent. Certainly not if he intends to make good his demand that the operating budget be balanced, too.

The governor is putting the Republicans in a pretty squeeze.

The pressure on the legislature to vote construction money to Michigan and Wayne Universities is going to be heavy. In addition, the state without question has a serious problem in caring for its mounting population of the insane. There will be both physical and moral pressure on that point.

Yet, in all probability, the Republicans cannot yield to those pressures without immediately facing the necessity for more taxes. If they don't yield, they are going to make an awful lot of people mad in an election year.

If the G. O. P. swallows Williams' corporation tax it will be one of the worst back-downs in state history. If it doesn't, the only alternative seems to be more consumer taxes—and then Williams really will have a whip to lay on their backs at election time.

No one really believes that the budget can be balanced by economy. The simple truth is that too much of the state's income—about 75 per cent—is going back in hand-outs to the local units of government. So there isn't much room

Menominee Scouts Lease Lighthouse

Menominee, Mich.—The Sea Scout ship North Star of the Menominee Boy Scout district has been awarded a five-year lease, for $1 a year, of the Green Island lighthouse and adjacent government buildings for use in summer activities, it was reported today by Michael J. Anuta, chairman of the district's Sea Scout committee. The lease had been approved by the Ninth district U. S. Coast Guard headquarters at Chicago, subject to CG regulations.

The lighthouse and government buildings on Green Island have not been occupied since an automatic light was installed, dispensing with need for a light tender. The first and part of the second floors of the lighthouse had been used for living quarters and will be converted into quarters for the Sea Scouts for overnight and weekend visits.

Mrs. Peterson Heads Isabella Guild

Strategy Laid To Nip Spread Of Communism

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington—(AP)—A three-point strategy for blocking—and some day reversing—the spread of Russian Communism in Asia emerged Friday from Secretary of State Acheson's declaration of U. S. foreign policy toward the Far East.

The strategy is aimed at bolstering non-Communist nations in Southeast Asia, trying to eventually drive a wedge between China and Russia and holding on to America's own Western Pacific defense line—which does not include Formosa.

The policy was outlined by Acheson in an hour long speech at the National Press club. It was the first general administration statement on the Far Eastern situation since the Reds completed their conquest of China.

It contained one sensational accusation which comes at an apparently critical point in early Chinese Communist relations with Moscow. This was that Russia is in process of taking over a vast area of North China, including Manchuria. Acheson predicted that this would bring down on the Russians the "righteous anger and wrath" of the Chinese people.

On this "important fact" as he called it and on the belief that Asia is caught up in a great revolutionary ferment, he laid out the three lines of his strategy for dealing with the situation:

1. To promote the growth of Nationalism and help satisfy the desire for economic betterment in the countries of southeast Asia as the best way of preventing them from going Communist.

2. To exploit—as Acheson himself obviously sought to do—the conflict between Chinese Nationalist interests, even under Communist rule, and what Acheson called Russian imperialism in North China.

3. To hold indefinitely the American defense line in the western Pacific based on Japan, the Ryukyu Islands and the Philippines. To this end, he made clear, the United States is determined to keep defense forces in Japan even after a peace treaty.

The definition of the administration's Far East policy following long months of intensive work in the State Department, fell short of promising action of the kind which Acheson's critics have demanded in respect to Formosa, for example.

Menominee Doctor Heads Blesch Fund

Menominee, Mich.—Dr. W. S. Jones, was reelected president of Blesch Fund, Inc., at the annual election of officers yesterday afternoon. Other officers are George Barstow, vice president, and Roland M. Odgers, secretary and treasurer. Trustees are Clement Ritter of Nadeau township and Dr. John R. Heindenreich of Daggett.

Blesch Fund, Inc., administers the $500,000 trust fund left by the late Mrs. G. A. Blesch to the people of the city and county of Menominee for health betterment.

"Rented the first day" said Smith.

Kiwanis Club To Observe Anniversary

Kiwanis International will observe the 35th anniversary of its founding during the week of January 15 to 21.

Established in Detroit January 21, 1915, the community service organization has grown from a single unit to a vast network involving more than 3,000 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and the Yukon Territory. Vernon Berg, president of the Kiwanis club of Escanaba said today that plans for the observance of Kiwanis Anniversary Week here are now complete. A recording of a speech by J. Hugh Jackson international president, will be broadcast Monday. William Warmington will review the history of the club.

In this connection, Mr. Berg said that he had received a significant report covering Kiwanis International's accomplishments during the past year.

Nearly $18,000,000 was raised by Kiwanis clubs to support the Community Fund and polio, heart and cancer campaigns in 1949. At the same time, Kiwanians were purchasing government savings bonds valued at more than $14,000,000. They also provided recreational opportunities to 1,650,000 young people and gave vocational guidance to 265,000 others.

The report revealed that 11,000 Kiwanians held public office in 1949 and that 42,000 served on school, hospital and other public affairs boards. To strengthen the American and Canadian systems of government, Kiwanis International issued 16,000,000 patriotic pamphlets last year and won a gold medal and an award for $1,-

Wire-Tapping Going On In Washington; Congressmen Irked

Washington—(AP)—An investigation of reports of unauthorized tapping of congressional telephones was demanded by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), following complaints by several colleagues. Rankin drafted a resolution calling on the house un-American activities committee to make the investigation. He said he would introduce it when the house reconvenes next Monday.

For some time members of the house have complained privately that they suspected their private telephone lines in the house office buildings were being tapped.

One member told newsmen he recently detected an actual tapping of his line with the aid of outside technical help. He was unable to catch the person who did it. He said he has suspected for some time that his home telephone has been tampered with.

The gadget used in the case he detected, he said, was a "clip-on device" which could be hurriedly attached to and detached from lead-in wires.

Another house member no longer will talk "off the record" by telephone with newsmen. He says his office telephone is tapped "and I don't want on any kind of a record the things I discuss off the record."

Listen to "Reflections" WDBC 6:15 P.M. Tues. & Thurs.

There's a new twist to the hosiery business . . . I'm talking about Phoenix high twist nylons! You think nylons are nylons, and so what? You're wrong there! A new method of twisting the nylon yarn makes Phoenix hose three ways better. One: more snag resistant. Two: a duller and more beautiful surface. Three: (are you still with me?) Lots more elasticity and better fit. That says it; but you have to see them (at the Fair Store) to know what I mean. Prices start at $1.35 for a walking sheer in Holiday and Souvenir shades.

Whoever said "there's nothing new under the sun" was wrong! I just found something new, and it's down at Garrard Jewelers . . . a perfume that doesn't evaporate! You know how often you haven't closed the container tightly enough, and it's all gone! Or perhaps you saved some special stuff for a big evening and found nothing left! Not any more, if you have some perfume by Rogaux. Only $1.00 for two drams of such fragrances as Heather . . . Naughty . . . Carnation . . . Gypsy Myth. And a free whiff for the asking!

I hope somebody sends me a valentine . . . and how I hope it's one from the Photo Art Shop! You can't miss their big display of Valentines, because some of them are touched up with a new fluorescent glow light . . . really flashy! Both Rust Craft and Hall Mark cards from 5c to a dollar . . . and they're cut every year

If you are one of the many women who have admired the Palms Spring Brocade at Eden's Gift Shop and have longed to start a set, you are a lucky woman. For a very limited time, Mr. Eden is offering 16 piece starter sets (usually $14.95) for only $12.50. These unusual dishes come in two color combinations: sage lined with lemon, and pomegranate lined with desert grey. The color and line of Palm Springs Brocade are something to treasure.

Another starter set greatly reduced is the Red Wing Pottery 20 piece set in Ardennes pattern. (Reduced from $14.80 to $12.50). Soft grey-green leaves circle the white plates and saucers. Cups may either match the saucers, or come in a contrasting duobonnet. All of these dishes are open stock . . . so start on a starter set, and save!

Here's something to quicken the heartbeat of every Escanaba girl from 16 to 60. That man is coming to town! Yes, it's Walter Pidgeon, mustache and all, coming to the Michigan theater in a tense new drama entitled "The Red Danube." The ballet dancer who is being hunted down by the Russians in Janet Leigh . . . her romantic lead is Peter Lawford. Also in the cast is Ethel Barrymore in the part of a Mother Superior of a convent. She said recently, "I didn't consider it a 'part' at all. It was something I wanted to be, something I wanted to say, with all the eloquence in my power!" There's no doubt about it, girls. "The Red Danube" is a BIG picture. But let's be honest . . . I'd go, even if it weren't . . . just to see Walter Pidgeon!

Sydney Shows Little Change

Yankee Spendthrifts Are Gone, However

ROBERT C. RUARK

Sydney, Australia.—It was a long, long way on bucket seats and mailbags, I remember, and it's still a long way from Honolulu to Sydney, but the presence of a stewardess and a highball and a place to put your feet make all the difference.

Ruark

You stop at Canton Island, still, and at Nadi in Fiji, and at an airport near Noumea, in the New Hebrides, but the long jumps over the water don't seem so long any more.

The airport at Mascot looks still the same, as you come down over the red roofs and over the interlocking blue bays, and on the way to town the tanneries smell as pungently as ever.

Castlereagh street, the main drag, is just as packed as you remember, and the Hotel Australia is jammed to the gunwales. The lobby is still packed with pretty girls, expectantly waiting for somebody, and every table in the hotel's passion pit is taken.

All Australians

There is only one jarring note. The people who pack and jam and clutter are all Australians. You keep missing the khaki and the blue of the Yanks, and it comes with a shock that this isn't your town any more. It has been reclaimed by the original owners.

George McCadden of the United Press is on hand to meet you, and you go to dinner at Prince's, the upper-crust cafe that used to be aswirl with laughing Yanks, tossing pounds around like chaff, and romancing the sheilas and drinking more than they should.

The band at Prince's is playing "Baby, It's Cold Outside," when five years ago it would have been "Working for the Yankee Dollar."

The people who caper at Prince's now are mostly sedate, with heavy emphasis on the waltz. A few vestigial traces of the jitterbug still manifest themselves later in the evening, and for some odd reason the Australian has taken heavily to the samba. The samba is danced over here much after the Kangaroo fashion, and seriously endangers the welfare of the non-combatants.

It is an interesting thing to watch the eyes of the arbiters of the cafes light up when an old, familiar Yankee face heaves over the horizon. We may not be missed in the museums and other citadels of culture, but the brains of the Pierres and Louies stir at the memory of tossed 10-pound notes, and a look of nostalgia comes over their faces, too.

Since the Yankees went away, Sydney has missed something of the hectic gaiety with which we invested the city, and has attempted to compensate with night clubs patterned after New York. There are half a dozen of these strewn around the city, complete with floor shows and loud bands.

How they circumvent the rigid liquor licensing I do not know, but other places offer stand-up cocktail bars to well-known customers, and Sydney night life, which used to be shut up pretty tight, now goes on interminably.

Child Health Neglected To Perfect Bombs

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York (AP)—Top American scientists heard the federal government accused of neglecting child health research while spending millions on bombs.

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, of the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., made the statement before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Only a few thousand dollars a year of federal money goes for child health research, she said, but more than half a billion is spent on other research, including immense sums on bombs and atomic energy.

By contrast, she said, children are by far the most important product of the United States.

"What we are after," she said, "both educators and doctors, is to help in raising a new generation of human beings who are buoyantly healthy in body and spirit; whose creativeness and social responsibility are given the greatest possible opportunity for expression; who have an unchallengeable conviction of their own worth and the worth of other people."

"This is the kind of positive health we are after. This is the quality of people we are convinced can truly build a democratic society."

Dr. Baumgartner said there are 20,000,000 American children with poor teeth, 4,000,000 with poor sight, 1,000,000 with poor hearing, 200,000 with epilepsy, and 170,000 with cerebral palsy.

And, she said, despite the $7,500,000 congress annually gives states to help sick children, the states are forced to turn down thousands of children a year for lack of funds.

She said this year there are 30,000 crippled children unable to get help.

She wants the research to go much farther than child diseases—to cover, for example:

The child who has actual pains due to taking a school test; the child who can't do good work because of home worries; the many millions of children who lay the foundation for mental troubles; the great puzzle of why some children have most of the accidents.

Dr. Baumgartner said accidents are the largest cause of child deaths over age one.

She also urged research on how to aid parents with child problems. "Probably never before," she said, "were parents so eager for guidance."

Widespread Abuse Of GI Education Program Studied

Washington, (AP)—The Veterans Administration is assembling figures to back up President Truman's hint at signs of widespread abuse of the GI education program.

Officials said they plan to hand a 400-page report to the Senate Labor committee by Feb. 1. They wouldn't say what it contained, but they disclosed this background:

1. The number of privately-owned profit-making schools below the college level has increased 200 per cent since the start of the veterans training and education program—from 3,200 in June, 1944, to 8,800 in October, 1949.
2. State accrediting agencies have little control over the increase. They must accredit schools so long as the equipment and facilities are satisfactory, without regard to the actual need for the schools.
3. VA has neither the funds nor the authority to investigate the motives of veterans enrolling in such schools, even though it suspects that many are using the $120-a-month subsistence payments as a form of unemployment relief.

In his budget message, Mr. Truman said the current enrollment in the veteran education and training program is 400,000 greater than was expected a year ago, chiefly because of enrollment increases in trade and vocational schools.

The continued expansion of enrollment in schools below college level raises the question whether this program still conforms to the original sound objectives of the servicemen's readjustment act," he said.

VA's investigators are known to have collected, as evidences of abuse of the education program, scores of trade school advertisements inviting veterans to "study at Uncle Sam's expense."

Some officials also have expressed particular concern at the schools that have sprung up to teach such occupations as brick-laying and meatcutting, traditionally learned through apprenticeship.

They point out that the unions in such highly-organized industries do not recognize "graduates" of these schools. The customary apprenticeship periods still are required.

the projecting entry, is relieved by a simple bull's-eye window. In the rear gable, louvers are provided for ventilation of the attic, which in this house is useful only for storage.

A pleasing feature of the dwelling is the treatment of the entry ell. Inside, the ell is large enough to accommodate an entry hall with coat closet at either side. An open arch or a door, separates the entry hall and the adjoining living room. Use of a door here will keep out drafts in winter, the architects point out.

The living room measures 18x12 feet. The fireplace, in the far end of the room, is built with a flush mantel so the full floor space of the room may be utilized. Across the room from the entry arch or door is door opening on an L-shaped back hall connecting with the bedrooms, bath, cellar stairs and ending at a door to the kitchen. A large storage closet and a linen closet open off this hall.

Double Window in Dining Room. Living room and the 11x11-foot dining room are joined by a wide archway. A double window on the side of the house lights the dining room. Opposite, in the inside wall of the room, is a built-in wall china cabinet. A swinging door opens from the dining room to the kitchen.

The latter measures 12½x11 feet and its layout will appeal to most housewives. It includes a broom closet, a wall cabinet with working counter near the door to the dining room; a long L-shaped working counter with sink; the stove, abutting the main work counter; and an open floor area between the counter and refrigerator, under a window, left open to accommodate a breakfast set. A service entry, with a glazed door giving additional light, is located in the corner of the room near the refrigerator.

Just inside the door from kitchen to hall is the cellar stairway. In the basement the heating system is placed under the living room and laundry equipment below either the bathroom or kitchen. This leaves much of the basement open for other uses.

Bedrooms on Right Side. The bedrooms, lined along the right side of the house, range in size from 12x11½ feet to 11½x10½ feet. The two outside corner rooms have windows on two exposures; the middle room has two windows in its one outside wall. The unusual shape of this room suggests the use of built-in bunks along one or both walls. Single closets are provided in two of the bedrooms. The front room has two.

Access to the attic storage space can be provided by installation of a ceiling trap, with disappearing stairway, in the long stretch of the hall.

This type of house should be insulated in side walls and over all room ceilings. Council Will Discuss MetersPetition Asks For Their Discontinuance

Passing on petitions dealing with parking meters, will likely be the chief matter of business to come up before the Manistique city council at an adjourned meeting Monday evening.

There are two sets of petitions, one requesting that the voters of Manistique be given the right to vote on the discontinuance of meters altogether and the other to discontinue parking meter regulations each Friday afternoon after six o'clock.

The petitions contained 288 signatures, of which 230 were bona-fide residents of the city and the others were residents of the Manistique vicinity, but whose names are not on the city vote registry.

Whether these petitions would be made an election issue, G. S. Johnson, city attorney, declined to state, although he stated that the wishes of the petitioners could possibly be made an issue to be voted on in the spring election.

Drive For Polio
Fund Will OpenMarch Of Dimes To Begin On Sunday

Sup't Wallace C. Cameron has been named as Gladstone chairman for the annual March of Dimes campaign which is to be held the last two weeks of the month, beginning this Sunday. Checks may be mailed to Earl B. Harris, treasurer for the Delta County unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Half of the funds raised here remain in the county for local use while the other half goes to the National Foundation for use in research into prevention and cure of the disease, education of professional personnel and for aid to county chapters whose treasuries have been exhausted by epidemics. The epidemic of polio in this area in 1949 completely exhausted the funds of the local unit for this work.

Gladstone Posts Sixth Straight Win, 26-24 Over Eagles; St. Joe Host To Unbeaten Braves Tonight

Early Stephenson Lead Fades In Tight Defensive Battle

Stephenson, Jan. 14 (AP) (Special to the Escanaba Daily Press)—Playing a tight, defensive brand of ball, Stephenson Eagles gave the Gladstone Braves plenty to worry about here last night but the Delta county hot shots came through on top, 26-24, to chalk up their sixth consecutive win without defeat this season.

Both teams played a man-to-man defense, picking up foes at mid-court and sticking with them like glue, and at the outset it appeared that Stephenson's strategy of close control of the ball and tight defense was going to pay off.

The Eagles held a 7-4 lead after the first quarter, but the Braves pulled out to a 14-10 half-time advantage and stayed in front, 24-10 going into the fourth. Stephenson closed to 26-24 in the fourth period until Gladstone dropped the clinching basket. For the most part, the margin was no more than four points.

It was the end of a rough session with Delta county teams for Coach Bob Germand's Stephenson Eagles. After opening the season with four straight wins and being stamped as the team to beat in the district Class B basketball tournament, the Eagles bowed successfully to St. Joseph's of Escanaba, Escanaba high and last night to Gladstone high.

Billy Rajala and Larry LaPlant tied for high scoring honors with nine points each. Larson connected for eight for the Eagles.

The preliminary was capped by Gladstone B, 48-25. Beauchamp and Becker led Gladstone with 12 and 11 points, respectively, and Nerat and Schlenvogt hit eight and seven for the losers.

Cloverland-VFW Battle Is Monday Cage Feature

Cloverland College and VFW battle it out for second place in the Class A league Monday night at the junior high at 8:30 in the top game of next week's city league basketball program. The Escanaba Shamrocks clash with the Gladstone Lions in the preliminary at 7:30. The first game at 6:30 features People's Bar and the K. of C. In the final game of the evening at 9:30 Wait Window meets Harnischfeger.

Tuesday night's headliner brings together Cloverland and Andy's Bar of Bark River and Thursday the most promising contest is the VFW-Gladstone Lions tilt.

The game to watch, however, is that Cloverland-Vet skirmish on Monday night. The rivalry here is almost as keen as that between the VFW and the Shamrocks and the fans will be expecting more "fireworks". The last time the College boys tangled with the Vets the final outcome was in doubt right up to the final minute of play and the score was 49-45, VFW the winner.

After the Shamrocks knocked out the Vets for the second time this season last week, the rest of the league began looking around for another capable club to challenge the leaders. Cloverland College could fill the role of challenger by a convincing victory Monday and they'll be out

Menominee Stops Escanaba

Menominee, Jan. 14 (Special to the Escanaba Daily Press)—It was all Menominee the last half and there-in rests the story of Menominee's 45-35 victory over the Escanaba Eskymos here last night.

After a commendable 19-19 first half, the Eskymos were guilty of spotty defensive lapses in the last half that permitted the Maroons to pile up a sizeable winning margin.

Four quick ones within the first minute and a half of play at the outset of the second half proved too big an obstacle for the ever-tiring Eskymos to overcome.

Had Early Lead

Before you could spell H-a-l T-1-U-S, the Maroons grabbed a 27-19 lead after the intermission. Two baskets by Bob Amory, one by Jack Anderson and one by Dick Hofer did the trick.

Up till that point, the Eskymos were doing all right. They had a 10-6 quarter lead and stayed in the lead until Johnny Moerchen dipped one in all alone under the basket to make it 19-19 just before halftime.

In fact, when Anderson scored a layup to make it 21-19, it was the first time Menominee had been in the lead since it was 6-4 in the first quarter. Escanaba had a six-point lead twice in the first half, at 12-6 and again at 17-11.

The widest margin of the game was Menominee's 37-24 margin at the start of the fourth quarter.

Effective Stall

Menominee was in front, 41-33, at the start of the official timeout period, and for all practical purposes under the new rule the game was over right then. Menominee went into an effective stall. Amory got a field goal, Keller and Hofer a free throw and Warren Johnston managed a tip-in shot for the Eskies and that was it in the last three minutes of play. Mostly, it was Menominee keeping the ball away from Escanaba.

The Eskies played Menominee on even terms the fourth quarter, but that big third quarter proved too much. Twice the Maroons had a 10-point edge in the third, at 31-21 and 34-24 and they were leading 35-24 going into the finale.

Escanaba got only nine shots at the basket in the third. It made only two. It got only seven shots in the fourth and made five of them. In all, it made 15 out of 46 chances from the field for a fair 32 per cent, but it still wasn't enough. Of 16 free throw chances, it made only five. That didn't help either.

In the preliminary, Menominee Bees won, 38-30.

Portuguez, Young Stage Fight-Of-Year At Madison Square

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Tuzo Portuguez and Paddy Young, a pair of swing men from the floor muscle men, are way out front in the early race for 1950 "fight of the year" honors.

The chunky Costa Rican belter and baby-faced Young from New York's Greenwich Village staged a Madison Square Garden battle last night that won't be forgotten for a long time.

Portuguez was the winner when referee Eddie Joseph stopped it after 43 seconds of the eighth round because of a bad cut over Young's left eye. The arguments continued far into the night.

One thing is sure. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing club has a whale of a rematch as soon as the two boys can be patched up.

"I'm working on it for February," said Weill.

First customers will come from the 10,024 who paid $29.04 to see last night's brawl. They all want to see more. They wanted to see more last night, too, and booed referee Joseph.

Strong at 158 pounds, or 11 more than he weighed when he edged Beau Jack in an indifferent performance, Dec. 16, Portuguez had to get off the floor to win.

Young, a terrific left hooker, dropped him for two in the third. He was hit hard with two left hooks. When Portuguez came up so quickly, it seemed he had made a mistake. But he was all right and able to fight back strong. Two or three other times Young rocked Tuzo to his heels but never enough to discourage him.

The preliminary was another thriller, the Rapid River Rocket reserves coming out on top by a 43-39 count in the overtime.

Game At Bonifas A Natural; Trojans Geared For Revenge

You've heard of naturals before, haven't you? This is it! Gladstone vs. St. Joseph's in the Bonifas gym here at 8:30 tonight.

Gladstone spoiled the Trojans' unbeaten record with a 44-31 conquest in Gladstone last Dec. 2. Gladstone is still undefeated with six straight.

But since that Dec. 2 engagement, the Trojans have developed into a very potent aggregation that swept through the U. P. parochial cage championship with all the ease of George Mikan dropping a lay-up with no one guarding him.

They breezed through Sacred Heart, 53-40, and St. Paul's of Negaunee, 67-47, in the parochial tourney, and they haven't played since the latter game, Dec. 30. That means a lot of hard work has been completed, and it goes without saying the Trojans have been pointing since Dec. 30 for this big one with Gladstone.

Father Stephen, St. Joe athletic director, has a tripleheader lined up for tonight. The Trojan and Brave lasses will play at 6, there serves of each school at 7, and the main game is at 8:30.

Leading Trojans will be Jack Courcenen, Don Paulin, forwards; Jack Miron, center, and Pete Kutches and Ron Hirn, guards. Ready for utility duty will be such stalwarts as Bud Boddy, Billy Baker, Wayne Papineau, Dave Rademacher and Alfred Dufour.

The Trojans have been plenty hot in practice sessions this week. But then the Braves haven't been letting any grass grow under their feet since the holidays either. They soundly spanked the Eskymos, 62-33, you recall, and they proved they could cope with a defensive brand of ball by beating Stephenson, 28-24, in Stephenson last night.

It promises to be a scorcher before a capacity crowd. If you're going, get there early.

Michigan Tech Six Raps Spartans, 15-2

East Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Michigan Tech poured it on Michigan State in the second game of their two-night hockey series here last night, overpowering the Spartans 15-2 before a scant crowd of 1,350.

The Engineers never had any competition as they led 7-0 at the end of the first period and 11-1 after the second period.

High men for the Upper Peninsula experts were wing Roy Ricci with four goals and center Mark Olson and wing Jim Ruhl with three goals each. Michigan Tech won the first game of the meeting between the two teams, the introduction of ice hockey to MSC, Thursday night by a 6-2 score.

Peshtigo, Shamrocks Begin 3-Game Series Here Tomorrow

Newberry Puck Chasers At Gladstone Tomorrow

Gladstone, Jan. 14 — With a 1-1 record in Upper Peninsula Hockey league play to date, the Gladstone Indians will try to get over the .500 hump on home ice here tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with the Newberry sextet.

To date, the Indians have defeated a strong Stambaugh Wing outfit, 3-2, and lost by 3-0 to the South Marquette Athletic club. The latter has added a new line of Sonny Marlowe-Roy Olson-Johnny Vasseau, which promises to be one of the fastest lines in the circuit.

Sentinels And Eagle River To Play Here

Northern Game Set For Local Rink Next Thursday

The next Marquette Sentinel-Eagle River Falcon game in the Northern Lakes Hockey league definitely will be played at the Escanaba indoor rink, it was announced this morning by Phil Spear, Jr., president of the Marquette Hockey club.

Eagle River, downed by Marquette and Canadian Soo this week, is strengthening its lineup, and it is expected that Manager Gil Sanborn will have a greatly improved team for the clash with Marquette here next Thursday night.

Sanborn is combing the Copper Country and nearby Canadian cities in hopes of uncovering talent to get into the swing of things in the fast Northern Lakes Hockey league.

Marquette and Soo currently are tied for the league leadership with 10 points each. Each picked up two this week with wins over Eagle River.

Nine hundred fans turned out to see Marquette tip Eagle River, 9-3, in Calumet Thursday night. At least 1,000 Delta county hockey fans are expected to turn out to watch the Northern Lakes tussle here next Thursday.

Rapchak Scores 34 Points As Spartans Defeat Marquette

East Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Bill Rapchak, Michigan State basketball forward, has a new MSC individual scoring record and he caused it the Spartans defeated Marquette, 21-64, here last night. Rapchak scored 34 points. His previous high was 29 set last year in Virginia.

It was only the second win in 12 starts for the stumbling MSC team and it came as somewhat of a surprise to 4,747 fans.

That was especially true because of the slow start Rapchak made. In the first half the Whiting, Ind., senior made only eight points.

But then he warmed up fast.

In the second half's first five minutes, he fired toward the basket five times and on four of those tries the ball went through the hoops. The scoring spree continued.

In 11 games earlier this season, Rapchak had run up only 62 points.

The contest was a close one up to the intermission.

With forward Dick Peterson pacing his teammates, Marquette stayed right in the game. Twice the score was tied, and the lead changed hands six times before Michigan State mustered a 32 to 29 advantage at the midway point.

Then Rapchak got on his scoring horse and the Spartans pulled away.

Al Spaulding Gives Louis A Workout

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 14 (AP)—Al Spaulding, 198-pounder from Oakland, gave Joe Louis a busy time last night, trading punches with the retired heavyweight champion in a four-round exhibition.

Although Louis had no trouble hanging up a sports writers' verdict, he took several hard rights in the second round and wound up with a welt over his left eye.

The Brown Bomber scored the only knockdown when he decked Spaulding in the third with a joining right.

U-M IN THE SWIM

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—Coach Matt Mann starts his 25th year as Michigan swimming coach today as his swimmers open the 1950 Big Ten season against strong Purdue.

Some idea of how the Escanaba Shamrocks would have fared in Northern Wisconsin Michigan Basketball league play this season will be gained when the last Escanaba independent quintet is host in Bonifas gym tomorrow afternoon to the Peshtigo Rockets, top ranking team in the NWM.

This game is one of the top independent attractions of the current season. It's the start of a three-game series that promises to be the highlight of the year for the Sham

GEORGE M. HARVEY, City Clerk, 3202-Jan. 12, 13, 14

BIDS WANTED

Proposals are solicited for the purchase of materials, erection and installation of services including equipment and labor as required to complete the work of various trades at the Veterans Memorial Gymnasium at Eben Junction, Michigan, for the Rock River School District.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the school superintendent in the school building at Eben Junction up to 8:00 p. m. Tuesday, February 14, 1950, and will be opened and publicly read aloud. After consideration and comparison successful bidders will be notified by mail.

Plans and Specifications may be obtained at the office of the Superintendent by contractors desiring same who have bonded themselves with the site and intend to furnish a work proposal for the major part of the work proposed. Work consists of: Truss and Roof work, concrete stage and bleachers and Gymnasium floor. Plumbing, Heating and Electrical work to follow. Four outside walls now provide weather break protection, and contractors interested in portions of the work during winter are invited to submit proposals, either to the board or to the general contractors. Such proposals will be considered only in the light of advantage to the school district, and no obligation is implied to accept such bids notwithstanding they may be lower than other bids. The time schedule extends through spring weather and is of essence and material consideration in the award. Consideration of local labor available is recommended but on basis of merit and advantage to the contractor.

A deposit of $25.00 is required for plans and Specifications taken out, which will be returned upon receipt of same in good condition before opening of bids. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check, bank draft or Bid Bond of 2% of amount of bid submitted. No bidder may withdraw his bid within thirty days for opening of bids, but may change his bid at any time prior to the opening of bids. Essential information omitted will disqualify the bid.

All checks shall be made payable to the Secretary of the Rock River Township School Board. The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids or accept such bids as in the opinion of the Board of Education will serve the best interests of the School District. The contractor is assumed to have visited the site, allowed for all conditions. Experience, ability to perform labor and material bond, insurance will be required.

FERDINAND LAAKSO, Secretary of the Board of Education, 3197-Jan. 12, 14, 17, 1950

Alger May Join Race
For Governor; Staff
Has No Obligations

Lansing—(AP)—Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, jr., who may run for governor, doesn't want any of his employees to be afraid to support Harry F. Kelly, who is running for governor.

Alger wrote all his branch office managers, noting that many of them had been first appointed to their jobs by Kelly when Kelly was secretary of state.

That, Alger wrote, "makes your position somewhat equivocal, should I myself become a candidate in opposition to him. There is a distinct possibility that this may happen."

"You are substantial citizens in your community and have every right, as a free person, to adopt such allegiance as you deem best for the party and for the state," Alger wrote. "The purpose of this letter, therefore, is to inform you that should you care to offer your support to Governor Kelly in the primaries, I will understand that it is because you believe him to be the best candidate and that you are doing so objectively. Therefore I want you to know that in the event that I am a candidate, you need have no fear of recrimination should I be the successful one."

Alger has said he will decide later whether to oppose Kelly, a former governor, for the Republican nomination.

Live In Monastery

Collegeville, Minn., (AP)—His old world shut out by the walls of St. John's Abbey, Donald D. Foster has started the voluntary religious seclusion for which he forsook his wife and a successful business career.

Foster, 50, arrived by train from San Francisco, expressing determination to spend the rest of his life in the monastery and to "dedicate myself to a life of quiet humility."

The former California hobby shop owner conceded that his future depends on the next 18 months. In that period he must decide whether he can adapt himself to the rigid monastic life.

Foster said his most difficult task was parting from the wife with whom he lived for 25 years. If Mrs. Foster enters a convent, that act will make her husband eligible for the priesthood. Otherwise he will remain a lay brother.

Ward Takes It Easy, Tells Of 28 Days In Lousy Mukden Jail

By STANFORD BRADSHAW
 Detroit (AP)—Angus Ward, wearing an old suede jacket and gray trousers, lolled in the big easy chair.

In the kitchen, his sister, Mrs. Hans Hansen, broiled a big piece of venison. "It's a favorite of Angus's," she confided.

Outside, an occasional car dropped past on a sunny side street in Detroit. The neighborhood was neat and peaceful.

"It's nice to be back home," the former counsel general at Mukden in strife-torn China, said. He was confined for 28 days in a Communist jail there. He also was under house arrest for 12 months.

"You people here," he continued, "don't know what it's like living in a police state."

"Even the president of the United States can't call up a judge here and say I want this decision in such and such a case."

Then the white bearded diplomat went on to tell of his arrest and imprisonment. His case is virtually without parallel in American diplomatic history.

"In jail," he said, "we were allowed six slices of bread and six small cups of hot water daily. The water was hot so you'd know it had been boiled."

"The walls and ceiling of my cell had 'measles' from where body insects had been crushed by previous inhabitants. But the heat wasn't on and it was too cold for the bugs to come out."

"I was prepared, though. My wife had managed to slip in some DDT to me."

Despite the bad reputation of Chinese jails, Ward said he was treated "all right." The only thing missing from his stay there, he said, was a pocket knife.

The diplomatic official then gave a resume of his trial. He, and members of his staff, were accused of beating a Chinese laborer and of failing to pay his wages. Ward denied all charges.

"The first time I heard the formal charges against me," he said, "was the opening day of the trial. A translator, with a peculiar diction, read a quite lengthy paper."

"I couldn't understand him and asked the judge to have the charge re-read. He denied the request."

"All the questions they asked me were slanted. First they said 'did you beat this workman?' And after that, they'd say 'when you beat this workman, did you...'"

Whenever he sought to object, or question an alleged witness, Ward said, he was "waived aside."

At the conclusion of testimony, he said, court was adjourned for an hour and 45 minutes. During the adjournment there was a power failure, and no lights for about an hour.

"But when the judge sentenced me," Ward said, "he read from seven or eight closely typewritten pages. He also claimed to have a complete transcript of the testimony."

This, he indicated, made it appear to him that the sentence had been decided upon well in advance of the conclusion of the trial.

Ward, a native of Chassell, who was taken ill suddenly Thursday morning, submitted to an emergency appendicitis operation at St. Francis hospital. His condition is satisfactory.

Carol Ann Reno, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reno, No. 4 Veterans Housing, is a surgical patient at St. Francis hospital.

READY KITTY — All decked out in hat and scarf for the Boston Cat Show is "Rusty," a 5-year-old tortoise-shell cat belonging to Mrs. Carl Witham of Gloucester, Mass. "Rusty"—who, incidentally, is a tomcat—has a wardrobe of 15 fancy hats and scarves to match.

Deputy Conservation Director McLaughlin Leaves Service Feb. 1

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Robert C. McLaughlin, deputy conservation director for two years, has submitted his resignation to the conservation commission effective Feb. 1.

McLaughlin, 35, said he was accepting an administrative position with the Mc Louth Steel Corp. of Detroit. Donald Mc Louth, a conservation commissioner, heads the corporation.

Born in Lake Linden, Minn., McLaughlin joined the department in 1935 as a clerk at Marquette and was later advanced to educational representative in the Upper Peninsula. In 1940 he was promoted to assistant chief of the education division and was transferred to Lansing.

After navy service in the Pacific, he became administrative secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council. He was appointed deputy conservation director Jan. 1, 1948.

Hospital

Nels Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swanson of Cornell, who was taken ill suddenly Thursday morning, submitted to an emergency appendicitis operation at St. Francis hospital. His condition is satisfactory.

Carol Ann Reno, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reno, No. 4 Veterans Housing, is a surgical patient at St. Francis hospital.

Senators Divided On Question

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
 Washington—I guess you'll have to make like you're reading a serial story in a magazine and start first with the synopsis:

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin spreads his bread with purest creamery butter, only. Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas is an oleomargarine man. Now go on with the story:

Wiley: If the senator is such an expert, would he mind informing us just what goes into oleomargarine?

Fulbright: Cotton seed oil, soy bean oil, corn oil, peanut oil and skimmed milk.

Wiley: Any rape oil?

Fulbright: No.

Wiley: Sesame oil?

Fulbright: No.

Wiley: Beef fat?

Fulbright: No.

Wiley: Tallow and whale oil?

Fulbright: (beginning to get annoyed): No-o-o-o.

Wiley: Lard?

Fulbright: (exasperated for fair): No. Neither are gasoline, lubricating oil, or dynamite used in the manufacture of oleomargarine.

The gentleman from Wisconsin, who once authored a book entitled "Laughing With Congress," went harumpf and said that wasn't the way he heard it. He produced a list of margarine ingredients, which he said he got from the agriculture department and he proceeded to read it:

Rape oil, rice oil, sesame oil, Palm kernel oil, sunflower oil, palm stearine, palm flakes, beef fat, tallow, whale oil, lard flakes, lecithin, benzoate of soda, babassu oil and a few other items he didn't bother to pronounce.

Some other gentlemen there kidded into the subject, and the yammer-yammer went on from there, much as it has now for the last 64 years. They've been battling now since the senate came back to work on January 3, with time out for listening to the president's messages on a couple of other subjects, and no telling when they're likely to finish the oleo debate.

The question simply is whether they ought to take off the 10-cent tax on margarine colored yellow at the factory; everybody seems to think they should, except the senators from the dairy country.

I'm an expert at kneading color into white oleo and I don't much care, myself, but, on the other hand, I'm getting a postgraduate education on how an expert, like a senator, can whip a simple little

Loneliest Lighthouse Not All Dullness, Says Stannard Rock Keeper

Marquette, Mich. (AP)—What's life like in the loneliest lighthouse in America?

"Well, it's not all monotony," says Louis L. Wilks, veteran of 14 seasons on Stannard Rock, remotest signal station on the nation's coast line.

Located in Lake Superior off the Keweenaw peninsula, Stannard Rock is 23 miles from the nearest mainland point. Its concrete base rests on a rock that is 12 feet below water level. Without the light the site would be one of the most perilous in the Great Lakes.

Wilks, who has seen 55 summers, has spent 30 of them tending lighthouses in northern Michigan and Wisconsin. During the winter he's a resident of Marquette.

Aided by an assistant and two Coast Guardsmen, he operates the Stannard Rock light from mid-April to the first of December. The crew's main task is to send out warning signals to freighters carrying iron ore, coal or grain.

The men work in shifts of six hours on duty, six hours off. Each man works three weeks, then gets a week ashore.

Considering that their man-made island is less than 100 feet from end to end, it sounds like a dull life. But there's usually plenty of work to be done. "We maintain our own equipment and that takes up a lot of time," Wilks says.

Polishing the light's lens is a four-day undertaking in itself. Maintaining machinery takes up many hours each day.

In addition, the crew operates a Coast Guard radio station from the lighthouse.

Then there is housekeeping. The crew prepares its own meals and does its own laundry besides cleaning, dusting and painting quarters which are situated in the 102 foot tower.

If they have an idle moment, they may go fishing near the rock in the 25 foot vessel which is at their disposal. Sometimes they play cribbage or read or just bask in the cool lake breeze, pitying the people on shore.

"It's much cooler on the island than on the mainland," Wilks says. "The temperature is nearly always in the 70's during the summer and it never gets out of the 80's."

Visitors rarely stop at Stannard Rock but when they do, they're accorded an enthusiastic welcome and conducted on a thorough tour of the tiny domain.

It would be difficult to say how many ships might have been lost if crews hadn't been standing guard at Stannard Rock for the past 66 years. Wilks doesn't recall a single disaster in his long service on the rock.

Still, Lake Superior is notorious for its violent storms and Wilks doesn't feel that his work as a lighthouse keeper has been drab. "It's has its exciting moments," he says.

ODDITY

The sun burns your eyes if you look at it, and yet, between the sun and our earth are 93,000,000 miles of air with a temperature close to 459 degrees below zero.

He proved His Divinity!

If Christ had not risen on the third day, He would not have fulfilled the prophecies. He would not have kept His promise. He would not have proved His Godhead—and on the fourth day Christianity would have been dead and forever buried.

He had to rise from the dead! And He did. On the third day the doubly-guarded tomb was empty and then He, whom they had seen dead on the cross, appeared to hundreds during the next four days—talked with them, ate with them, and finally, before their eyes, ascended into Heaven.

In those days nobody doubted that He had risen. The enemies of Christ dared not deny it. The Apostles by preaching it converted 8,000 in two days, and they and their successors established the Church throughout the entire civilized world in three centuries.

Today the unbiased must accept these things as historic facts. The Resurrection is told and retold by the most attacked, and therefore most proved, history of all times—the Scriptures. It is attested also by the non-Christian historian of the first century, Flavius Josephus, who, in reporting Christ's death and burial, says, "He appeared alive again the third day."

The humanly-impossible conversion of the pagan world from its cult of pride, hate, greed, and lust, to the religion of humanity, love, self-denial, and chastity, is written down by accepted pagan historians of those centuries. And reason tells us that this would not have been and could not have been, had not Christ risen from the dead to prove His Godhead.

Easter is the Feast of the Resurrection—the Feast of the proof that Christ is God and His religion divine. A glorious day, a joyous day, a vital day for him who has his creed secured by fact as well as faith!

Facts! The Christians of the early centuries had them and used them to convert the world. Christians of today have these self-same facts which, if used in the same way, would put to flight the false prophets of whom Christ warned, and finally bring this world of ours back to the feet of Him who rose from the dead to prove Himself the Way, the Truth, and the Life for every man.

It's anything Catholic, ask a Catholic!

FLUFF-DRI CLOTHES

Fresh - as a Daisy in minutes—not hours!

Think of the extra pep you'd have—the hours you'd save—if you never had to hang out another wash—if you could dry it all indoors with a Hamilton Automatic Clothes Dryer!

No more struggling with heavy baskets—clotheslines—clothespins! Just put the clothes into your Hamilton, flick the switch and in a matter of minutes your clothes are gently tumbled fluff-dry and wrinkle-free.

"But wait," you say! "How about the fresh air and sunshine on my clothes and linens? I like that. I want that."

Madam, good old Science thinks of everything! There's a powerful ultra-violet Sun-E-Day lamp in your Hamilton. It sanitizes your clothes and sweetly freshens them with genuine sunshine-and-breeze ozone. They smell like the breath of Spring.

How about that? How about dropping in for a free demonstration?
